Wyandot Murder Victim Identified As Clevelander; 2 Associates Arrested

No Indictment Made in James Leedom Case

Jury Finds No Cause For Charge

Says Victim Had Himself To Blame; Assailant Not Named

The May term of the Marion County grand jury, closing a two-day session in Common Pleas Court today, recommended the investigation into the fatal knifing of James Owen Leedom be closed. It returned no indictment in the case.

In its report, the jury said it had considered testimony from 10 witnesses in that case and after studying the testimony, found that "the necessary elements of a crime" were missing.

The jury further recommended that "justice can properly and best be served by recommending that no charge be filed and without naming the person or persons actually causing the wound to James Owen Leedom."

The jury reported:

After a careful consideration of all of the testimony and facts in this case, we recommend that no criminal charge be filed against any one and that the investigation of this case be closed. We feel that we have heard and considered all evidence that could be obtained by the Police Department and which was necessary for our determination of this matter, and do not feel, under the circumstances, that the necessary elements of a crime are present, and that justice can properly and best be served by recommending that no charge be filed and without naming the person or persons actually causing the wound to James Owen Leedom. We find that Mr. Leedom refused to appear as a witness or give a statement to the Police Department of the person or persons causing such wound. We feel that Mr. Leedom's condition was contributed to by his voluntary use of intoxicating liquors, and that his later serious condition and death resulted to an undetermined degree, but probably large part, from his own refusal to cooperate with the doctor, nurses and hospital officials."

Died Week After Stabbing

Leedom died May 5 in City Hospital as a result of stab wounds to the stomach suffered April 28. He was found wounded near the Leedom home in the Veterans' Housing Unit on W Fairground St. Death was caused by peritonitis. Police questioned Mrs. Wilma Leedom, widow of the slain man, but filed no charges.

The killing, apparently is a closed case after the grand jury report.

Four persons were indicted by the jury. They included Albert Lauerhass, who early today was arrested for questioning in the Wyandot County dynamite murder case, on a charge of auto theft. Other indictments returned were Jerry White, taking indecent liberties with a girl; Finus Minton, manslaughter; and Charles Weir, arson. The panel refused to indict Charles D. Holycross on a charge of auto theft and Herbert Cluff on a forgery charge.

14 Witnesses

Fourteen witnesses gave testimony in the six cases in addition to the Leedom investigation in which 19 witnesses were heard. The jury heard evidence late Thursday afternoon and concluded the session with the regu-

Call Off Oil Strike; Begin Signing Pacts

Govt. Hurries Up Contract Talks On 15-Cent Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The simmering oil strike started to cool off today.

Government officials, eyeing what one of them called a "pretty critical" shortage of aviation gas, set up 15 bargaining sessions between union oil company negotiators across the country.

O. A. Knight, leader of a coalition of unions which have been on strike for 16 days, said in an interview that "We have called off the strike" and most strikers should be back on the job soon.

Pennsylvania Delegate Shift Aids Harriman

Regains Lead Over Kefauver; Oregon To Pick Delegates Today

By The Associated Press

W Averell Harriman moved back into the lead in the race for Democratic presidential-nominating delegate strength today on the basis of a new survey in Pennsylvania.

Harriman, Mutual Security Director, had been trailing Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee in the Associated Press nationwide tabulation of delegates. He had dropped to second place after leading Kefauver when he got the lion's share of his home-state New York's 96 votes.

Pennsylvania's 70-vote delegation was completed in the April 22 primary. Results then showed Harriman got four votes to Kefauver's 27.

This, plus results elsewhere in the country, gave Kefauver 107½ votes to 93½ for Harriman. The tally is based on concessions, pledges and leanings of delegates willing to state a preference.

However, a new survey of Pennsylvania delegates today showed 45 consider themselves uncommitted. This group includes 19 originally pledged to support prefcrential primary winner, who turned out to be Kefauver.

May Change Today

The new alignment — 16 more uncommitted than previously — gives Harriman 2½ votes and Kefauver seven votes, making their national rating read: Harri-

Parade Highlights "Armed Forces Day"

"Armed Forces Day" in Marion was marked Thursday night with a half-mile parade which was considered by bystanders one of the best Marion parades in many years.

An estimated 6,000 Marion residents lined Center St., from Baker St. to Park Blvd., for the four-division parade which started on Baker St. and moved west at about 7:45 p.m.

Highlighting the parade was the appearance of "Miss Armed Forces Day," Grace Pickett of Claridon School, and her attendants, all riding in convertibles. The girls were senior representatives from high schools in the city and county.

Representing the five branches of the Armed Forces in the queen's court were Betty Phillips of Caledonia, Miss Army; Betty Lynch of Martel, Miss Navy; Patricia Newport of Meeker, Miss Marine; Mary Ruth of Green Camp, Miss Air Force, and Maeola Arnold of Morral, Miss Coast Guard.

Other Attendants

Other atendants in the court were Betty Fogle of Waldo, Joan Riffee of New Bloomington, Sue Simmons of Harding, and Janet Ball of Prospect.

The parade queen and her attendants were flanked by members of the Armed Forces from various camps in the United States who were sent here to appear in the parade.

The girls were entertained at a dinner given before the parade by the Armed Forces Day Committee. They were then escorted to the Marion Army and Air Force Recruiting Station where Miss Armed Forces Day was selected. Judges were Miss Edna Dutton, Mrs. Walter Hane and Mrs. Robert Vaughn.

OWU Groups Participate

Lykens Seniors Collect Money For Sick Classmate

BUCYRUS—The oft-maligned younger generation got a pat on the back today from the faculty at Lykens High School, northwest of here.

School authorities disclosed today that the senior class carried on a worthwhile project during their annual observance of Sneak Day—a day in which the class usually "disappears" for an outing and holiday.

This year the students canvassed the Lykens area for financial aid for an ailing classmate, Owen Snyder of near Bloomville, who has been confined to Mercy Hospital in Tiffin for the past three weeks with rheumatic fever.

The voluntary and surprise solicitation drive brought in donations totaling nearly $200, which was turned over to the youth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Snyder.

Class members are Edward Mueller, Howard Stineman, John Leitzy, Vernon Brewer, Allen Kollar, Sam Kurtz, Arleta Leuthold, Christine Perkins, LaDonna Reiter and Patricia Schimpf.

Defender Of McCarthy Under Fire

Probers Score Letter By Clark Wideman, Former Marion Man

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators hoped to conclude public hearings today on a charge by Sen. Benton (D-Conn) that Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) violated congressional ethics in accepting $10,000 for a housing article.

Benton has made that accusation, among others, in demanding that McCarthy be ousted from the Senate.

McCarthy received the $10,000 in 1948 from the now-defunct Lustron Corporation, which was in the prefabricated housing business and heavily indebted to the government's Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC). McCarthy says his acceptance of the money was entirely proper and that he performed a public service in writing the article.

Sen. Gillette (D-Iowa), chairman of a Senate rules subcommittee will decide later whether to hold hearings on other Benton charges—including an accusation that McCarthy committed perjury and fraud in pressing his Communists-in-government charges.

Two witnesses were called for today's session—Harold Denton, who served as a Lustron vice president, and Walter Royal of the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

The subcommittee spent several hours yesterday questioning Clark Wideman, a Columbus, O., real estate broker, (former Marion resident), after Wideman had written to Gillette, saying:

"I am sickened by the attempts being made at this hearing to assassinate a senator's character and political career by innuendo and foul play."

The reference was to McCarthy, and Wideman — a friend of the senator — acknowledged under questioning that the letter and the copies he distributed to newsmen before taking the witness stand were typed in McCarthy's office. He said, however, that he had no help from anyone in writing the letter.

Attacks Wideman's Letter

Gillette said he considered it "an unfair attack on the subcommittee when a letter of this kind is given to the press" without the writer first carrying his complaint to the chairman or other committee members.

"I think it is very regrettable that this action has taken place," Gillette said.

Wideman said he felt his letter to Gillette "would get the desired result of getting me called to testify."

That proved correct.

Wideman sat, unruffled, in the witness chair under a barrage of questions by Sen. Hennings (D-Mo).

He said he was angry because he had been subpoenaed to appear before the subcommittee Monday

CHARGES "FOUL PLAY." Angry Clark Wideman, Columbus, real estate man and a former Marion resident, accuses Senate probers of attacking the character of Sen. Joseph McCarthy by "innuendo and foul play." Wideman also accused them of trying to suppress testimony favorable to McCarthy.

Blasts "Political Conniving"

Military State Threatens U.S., MacArthur Warns

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur, in an address closely scanned by politicians, warned Thursday night against "political conniving" which he said threatened America with a "military state."

Today Gen. MacArthur's motorcade rolled through nine southeastern Michigan communities enroute to a second and lesser address on the Detroit City Hall steps at noon.

He told a special joint convention of the Michigan Legislature Thursday night:

"We now find some of the leaders of one party openly endorsing their own selection as the nominee of the opposition party . . . they encourage segments of their rank and file to infiltrate the opposition's ranks to influence the selection of its nominee for the presidency.

"This form of political conniving is destructive to the very essence of true representative government and sets the stage for the emergence upon the American scene of the ugly threat of a military state."

Blow at Eisenhower?

He made no specific reference to any political party or candidate. Gen. Dwight Eisenhower is the only military man now a presidential candidate.

Gen. MacArthur paused for emphasis both before and after he spoke out against the "political conniving." An enthusiastic audience of legislators and guests, dominantly Republican, applauded

Reds Dare Allies To End Armistice

MUNSAN, KOREA (AP)—For the ninth straight day Red truce negotiators blasted the Allies and again virtually dared them to formally break off the armistice talks.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, senior Allied delegate, spoke for only two minutes of the 30-minute session. He used his time to "reject finally and formally" the Red prisoner exchange proposal and suggest a recess until the Reds have something new to offer.

Logan Man Dies After Auto Crash

Auto Runs Into Rear Of Truck on Route 23 North of Marion

Francis N. Weiland, 25, of Logan, O., died early today in Marion City Hospital of injuries received in a traffic accident on Route 23 at 3 a.m. He was driving north, of Marion, when his car run into the rear of a tractor and semi-trailer driven by Herbert E. King, 25, of Burbank, O.

Weiland was pinned in the car and was removed after the steering wheel and seats were torn out by a wrecking crew and a state highway patrolman. He was taken by the Schaffner-Denzer ambulance to the hospital, where he died at 6:30 a.m. in the emergency room. His injuries included skull fracture, broken jaw, and lacerations of the face and head.

Weiland's car, a 1950 Ford coach, was demolished. Tandem wheels on the rear of the trailer were knocked loose. The outfit, owned by the Glenn Cartage Co. of Girard, O., was loaded with steel. The driver was not injured.

The victim's body was removed this morning to Logan by the Roberts Funeral Service of that city. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weiland of Logan. A 1944 graduate of Logan High School, he was in service during World War II. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Car Hits, Kills Toledoan On N. Main St.

Cambridge C. Jones of Toledo was dead on arrival at City Hospital at noon today from injuries suffered when struck by a car on N Main St. just outside the city limits.

He was hit while walking across the road in front of the Jockey Steak House. Driver of the auto was Albert Francis Gottselig, 29, of Detroit, who was driving north on Route 23.

Witnesses said the man crossed in front of the northbound auto and that the driver was not traveling at an excessive rate of speed. They said the man was thrown into the air and back over the auto before falling to the pavement. Patrolmen said they felt a slight pulse as he was rushed to the hospital.

The man had been riding in a car with an unidentified companion who left the scene before patrolmen could obtain his or his companion's name. He went directly to Citly Hospital where the victim was taken.

Gottselig, a salesman, was on his way to Michigan. He planned a stop in Tiffin. He was taken to the highway patrol sub-station but no charges had been filed. Patrolmen are still investigating.

In Used Car Field; One Indicted Here For Theft of Auto

Two ex-convicts from Cleveland, one of whom was indicted for auto theft by the Marion County grand jury today, were arrested in Cleveland early today in connection with the "dynamite murder" in Wyandot County Thursday.

The arrests closely followed the identification of the victim Thursday by fingerprint experts from the London Prison Farm.

The victim, whose body was found blown to bits on a Wyandot County farm Monday afternoon, was Karl Kwinem, 38, of Cleveland.

In Used Car Business

He was a filling station operator and was associated with the two men who were arrested in a used car business. He used the alias Karl Stone in his business.

Arrested were Albert Lauerhass, 38, of Cleveland, whose brother is a member of the Cleveland police department, and Joseph M. Horay, 42, also of Cleveland.

They were turned over to Wyandot County Sheriff's Deputy Carl Stansberry in Cleveland today and taken to Wyandot County jail for questioning.

They arrived there at 8 a.m. today. They were immediately questioned by Wyandot County authorities, state highway patrolmen, and other officials. No charges have been filed as yet.

The Marion County grand jury today returned an auto theft indictment against Lauerhass, who was arrested by state highway patrolmen April 27 on a charge of stealing an automobile in Marion. He has been free on a $5,000 bond pending the grand jury's findings.

Brought to Wyandot County

After the dynamite victim was identified late Thursday, his two associates were picked up by Cleveland police for questioning and were brought to Wyandot County today by Deputy Sheriff Carl Stansberry, where the questioning was continued.

"Tough Eggs"

The two ex-convicts held were described as "tough eggs" today.

Deputy Sheriff Carl Stansberry at noon today said the men had been questioned for hours but that not much was being learned.

"We brought the men here for questioning," the younger Stansberry said, "because we couldn't get anyplace in Cleveland where they had yelled for their attorneys.

"They are tough eggs, and aren't talking very much. We don't have much on them, except some circumstancial evidence. We know they were in this vicinity the night of the killing, that they were business associates of the victim in the used car field, and that there was some friction between them because of that business."

Stansberry said no charges had been filed and the pair was being held for questioning.

The deputy said the questioning would continue through the day, and that the two men might be taken to the woods where the body was found strewn over a 200-foot area.

Detective James Brewer of the Cleveland Police Department said the wife of the victim—who ran his filling station under the name of Karl Stone—told him that her husband and the two men had been engaged in used auto deals.

Kwinem, his wife and two-year-old daughter, Sue Ann, were evicted from Bob's Trailer Camp in Bedford Heights on a charge of violating safety and health regulations two days before he disappeared.

Mrs. Kwinem, who became hysterical, was staying with friends today.

Pieces of Kwinem's body were found Monday strewn over a 200-foot area in woods in Wyandot County. Four limbs were found almost intact. His fingers were shaved in an attempt to prevent identification.

But police obtained fragmentary prints which they check with the bureau of identification at the London Prison Farm.

First Break

Identification of Kwinem was the first break in a four-day investigation by the FBI, the State Highway Patrol, sheriff's deputies and police officials in several Ohio cities.

An autopsy by an Ohio State University pathologist showed Kwinem was shot in the head before his body was blown apart by dynamite.

Cleveland Inspector Detective James E. McArthur said when Lauerhass was arrested in April, he had concealed in a sock a number of bills of sale for old, wrecked automobiles.

The name of Kwinem—or Stone—was on the papers as witness to the transaction.

Authorities reconstructed the crime like this:

Kwinem apparently came to Marion Thursday afternoon and for some reason phoned his wife, telling her he had been arrested and had to stay in the Marion County Jail for six days for intoxication.

Later that same day, perhaps while in a car driven by one of the two men, Kwinem was shot in the head.

Then the ends of his fingers were hacked off in an attempt to prevent fingerprints being taken. This was done with a pen knife or some other dull knife.

Then the body was undressed, down to the underwear, hauled to the woods on the Elmer Wyss farm, where a charge of dynamite was placed on top of it and detonated.

All that remained were portions of two arms, and two legs, and a part of the head.

Car Linked With Case

A burned out car which was found near Nevada Saturday morning is believed to be the car in which the shooting took place, and the one used to transport the body to the Wyss farm.

This is further indicated by the fact that all but one of the marks of identification on the car had been removed with an acetelyn torch. Cleveland police believe all three men, Kwinem, Lauerhass, and Horay had been connected with a stolen used-car ring in Cleveland.

Some of the questions left for the Wyandot County Sheriff to solve include: was there a falling out between Kwinem and his associates which led to his murder; Why did Kwinem tell his wife he was going to be in Marion County Jail for six days when he was actually not even under arrest? Who pulled the trigger of the gun which killed Kwinem? What sort of underworld affairs was Kwinem actually involved in? Where was the shooting actually done? Where are Kwinem's clothes? What was he doing in Marion on the night he was killed?

Announcement of the identification of Kwinem's body was made at a special meeting called for newsman at the Wyandot County Sheriff's office at 8 p.m. Thursday.

A number of newsman and correspondents attended the meeting. Neither of the two men, Lauerhass and Horay, had been arrested then, and the report that they were wanted for questioning in connection with the murder, and their description, was reported.

The first break in the case came Wednesday when Police Captain Justin Cornely of the Marion Police department called Wyandot County Sheriff Ben Stansberry to inform him that Mrs. Kwinem had called him earlier inquiring about her husband, who was missing.

Had Called From Marion

She had telephoned Cornely Monday asking him to confirm a report Kwinem was serving a six-day sentence in the Marion County jail. She said Kwinem had telephoned here from Marion Thursday that he had been arrested for intoxication and was sentenced to serve six days.

A check revealed that Kwin-

College Boy Raids

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

THE NATION-WIDE rash of raids by college boys on coed dormitories strikes a cheerful zany note in a mad and angry world.

Others may cavil at these antics, but they restore my faith in youth and higher education. They show that the young of our land still have the quality of mild rebellion under the influence of spring and a full moon.

Most of these mass raids have been in quest of coed bras and panties, and some of the blue-nosed gentry will surely see this as a new sign of moral decadence and ask suspiciously:

"What do the boys want with those things anyway?"

The answer to this is simple and practical. Soaked in cold water and tied around a throbbing head, these garments will help many a fellow bone up for his final Exams. They beat a towel all hollow.

THERE IS historical precedent for this. In the days of chivalry the knight always rode off to battle carrying a token—usually a glove—from his lady fair. The trouble with a glove is that you can't tie is around your head. If you don't believe it, try tying your wife's glove around your head the next time you go into battle—trying to figure out your income tax.

This epidemic of group student raids is naturally worrisome to deans of men and local police. And, of course, it would be bad if they really got out of hand.

But sometime college boys have to erupt and show they are something more than tame receptacles to be stuffed with stale knowledge. Just because they are working for sheepskins is no sign they enjoy the life of sheep. And a little larking now and then helps teach those in academic authority to respect the fact that these young "hopes of tomorrow" have the quality of rebellion as well as submission.

THESE NOCTURNAL forays into sororities prove that. They are in essence nothing but a mild revolt against the boredom of the commonplace which weighs upon us all.

It might help care-ridden adults if they had some such harmless outlets of resentment against routine as are available on the campus. We tend to take ourselves and our troubles so seriously that our minds get knotted.

Naturally, I am not suggesting that men who work in an office or factory band together and raid the nearest YCWA for bras and panties. Even if the girls at the YWCA took such a prank in good spirit, the wives wouldn't. They would demand that the governor call out the National Guard.

Ah, no, such escapades are for the Young and Unfettered.

BUT IT MIGHT lighten up the international tension if world leaders and diplomats would quit making faces back and forth and join in a bit of innocent skylarking. Wouldn't it be a pleasant change if the truge negotiators in Korea would indulge in a marathon rocking chair match for a change instead of their present marathon name-calling?

And how much would you pay to see Harry Truman and Dean Acheson meet Joe Stalin and Andrei Vishinsky in a goldfish swallowing contest to a finish in Yankee Stadium?

Anything to get life back into perspective.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

PHILADELPHIA

WITH THE EYES of a re-arming western world upon him when he took the platform at the steelworkers' convention here, the fatigued but utterly angered Philip Murray found himself facing not only his own people, but his country and his God as he revealed that the steel crisis had really just begun

To each he made a pledge as he announced to the nation, in effect, that regardless of what the Supreme Court ruled, the final decision would come only in a showdown between the million men represented by 3,000 delegates here—and the steel industry.

To competent observers this meant that Phil Murray, under heavy stress, was announcing a strike if he got anything less than what the government wage board had already recommended.

Turning to his own supreme court, the Sixth Constitutional Convention of the United Steel Workers of America, bedrock of the CIO, Murray lashed at the steel company executives as "malicious" and "hysterical."

"I say to them go to hell and I mean it this morning," he shouted.

"When the courts get through, what happens? When all the legalistic aspects are over, eventually an agreement has to be arrived at. You and the industry will finally have to settle that. We've been to the highest labor court in America, the Wage Stabilization Board."

AS THE DELEGATES of the workers who pull the steel out of America's mills cheered the fury of their fighting chief, Murray made his pledge to the nation—he would stand by the "rules." In defense of his union's sense of responsibility, he reported that the CIO Steelworkers already had delayed their strike by more than four and a half months. For 10 weeks and over 2,000,000 words, he charged, he and his colleagues had sat through government hearings.

"Why all the hysteria?" he asked "The steelworkers have accepted the rules."

And he indicated they would continue to play it that way until the government released the mills. That might not be for months. Phil Murray's words reflected the arguments of his soft-voiced counsel, Arthur Goldberg, in the Supreme Court at the very moment when Murray himself was speaking. Goldberg in the austere Washington High Court, urged speed on the bench, forcing Justice Jackson to warn him not to set a deadline. Neither Murray here nor Goldberg in Washington were drawing that time line. There would be peace until then. But both men indicated that nothing could keep the steelworkers from striking once the government returned the private properties — NOT EVEN THE TAFT-HARTLEY LAW!

THAT WAS OBVIOUS when Phil Murray reverted to his old blistering technique—right out of his early days when his oratory won many a bitter battle for the United Mine Workers — battles now rewritten in coal diggers' history so old John Lewis can take credit for them in his own specially built traditions

To arouse his people and to win sympathy for them, he charged:

"The steel industry violated the rules of common decency The people who are violating these rules are not going to get away with it. WE ARE NOT GOING TO ALLOW IT. I charge the steel industry, particularly, with being indecent . . ."

Then came Murray's objective:

"I should like to ask the leaders of the steel industry to be men and respect their obligations for once in their lives . . . and negotiate a contract with the United Steelworkers of America on the basis of the Wage Stabilization Board's recommendations."

There were other words—equally harsh—for it was not U.S. Steel's day at this CIO convention. There was no doubt that Murray was girding all CIO for the fight which must now come.

DRAMATIC BACKGROUND for Murray's keynote speech were the words of the purple-robed Auxiliary Bishop of Philadelphia, the Most Reverend Joseph McShea.

"The eyes of the world are fixed upon this convention and the interests and welfare of millions of people are involved in it. . . . A bewildered people, dependent upon public pronouncement for information, have been unable to determine the truth in the present conflict between management and labor in the steel industry, and so have suspended judgment

"Some have voiced the cynical suspicion that the representatives of labor have been either bought or sold, and that momentous decisions have been reached on the basis of fraud, deceit, and political considerations

"The decisions of this convention should demonstrate clearly and firmly that the faith of the American people in the integrity of labor and has been fully justified"

Shortly thereafter Murray spoke to a listening world.

Truman's Plan To Campaign Suits Taft Fine

Whistle Stop Tour Welcomed by Chief Administration Critic

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert A. Taft said today he welcomes President Truman's decision to make a whistle stop campaign for the Democratic presidential nominee this fall.

Taft, who wants to become the Republican nominee, told this reporter he is delighted to hear that Truman is going to head the Democratic campaign, no matter who the nominee is.

The Ohio senator has been caustically critical of the Truman administration's record.

Sen. Lodge (R-Mass), heading the drive to get the GOP nomination for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, said he isn't particularly interested in what Truman does.

"I think we are going to have an affirmative campaign, based on what the Republican party plans to do and not just depend on criticizing the Democrats," Lodge said. "And it won't be a 'me-too' campaign if Gen. Eisenhower is nominated."

This last was an allusion of Taft's contention that Eisenhower would be advised by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, another Eisenhower campaign leader, to soft-pedal criticism of the administration's foreign policies.

In his first definitely-scheduled address on his return from Europe—in Abilene, Kan., June 4—Eisenhower is not expected to discuss detailed political policies.

However, Lodge said on a radio program Thursday night that Eisenhower will be "very vocal beginning June 4 and will unquestionably talk about the major issues of the day." Another speech has been tentatively listed for June 14 in Detroit, although Lodge said there was no final decision on this.

A Michigan speech might be calculated to offset, in part, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's assertion at Lansing Thursday night that maneuvering in the nomination race "sets the stage for the emergence upon the American scene of the ugly threat of a military state."

Marion Knights of Columbus Observe Fiftieth Anniversary

Past grand knights presided for a meeting of Marion Council 671, Knights of Columbus Tuesday night. The meeting was the first in a series of social affairs planned for the observance of the 50th anniversary of the founding of the council this year.

At this time honorary life memberships were presented to Louis Columbus and John Kelly, and honorary memberships to the Very Rev. William J. Spickerman, V. F., Michael C O'Brien, Stephen Hart, John W. Truka, James Walsh, Charles W. Fairbanks, Daniel J. Lawler, William E. Lawler, Adolph Bianchi, John Caulfield, William K. Drake, Henry Neidig, Louis M. Kraft, Fred Moes, Dr. E. L. Brady and William Courtad. The presentation of membership cards was by Jack Malloy of Findlay, state deputy assisted by Joseph Dunn. In his talk Mr. Malloy reminded the knights of their glorious heritage and voiced the hope that they would renew the enthusiasm of their initiation day, and carry on the principles of the order in service to the Catholic Church. He also expressed the appreciation of the bishops of Ohio for the support given by the Knights of Columbus to youth activities. He also expressed a hope that councils would sponsor discussion groups to bring out the teaching and respect for moral laws.

Other Talks

Talks also were given by Richard Wortman of Kenton, district deputy and the Rev. Father Spickerman.

A past grand knight's pin was presented Dennis Malloy by Francis McDaniel, grand knight.

Floyd Cornely announced the visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile Unit in Marion and urged the members to contribute. Robert McCollister, bowling chariman, announced the council's bowling team had finished in first place and that the team in the Craftsman's League was in sixth place in the standings. Francis Norris, Catholic Activity chairman, announced the council will receive Holy Communion in a body at the 7:30 o'clock mass, May 25.

Announcement was made of the state convention to be held at Cleveland Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Delegates are Grand Knight McDaniel and Past Grand Knight Dennis Malloy.

Past Grand Knights

Occupying the offices were the following past grand knights: Michael O'Brien, grand knight; William Lawler, deputy grand knight; L. A. Axe, chancellor, William Fabian, warden, Henry Drake, treasurer; Floyd Cornely, recording secretary; Dennis Malloy, financial secretary; Robert McCollister, advocate; Thomas Andrews and Joseph Dunn, lecturers, Dr. W. A. Dennis, inner guard, Francis Norris, outside guard; William Simmons, trustee

John Mahoney received a special award and the following winners of the "millionaires party" received prizes in commemoration of the council's golden anniversary: Joseph Maloney, Russell Shockey, Charles Johns and Herbert Hertenstein. Other prizes winners were John Werley and Tom Dowd of Kenton.

Social activities were in charge of Thomas Andrews and Joseph Dunn. Lunch was served.

Wyandot Co. Schools Set Graduations

Baccalaureate Services Scheduled For Sunday Night

UPPER SANDUSKY—The 1952 graduating class of Upper Sandusky will hold their Baccalaureate services at the high school auditorium, Sunday night at 8 o'clock.

The sermon will be given by the Rev. F. LeRoy Sarver, pastor of the St. Paul Lutheran Church of Upper Sandusky. His topic will be "Your Future Life."

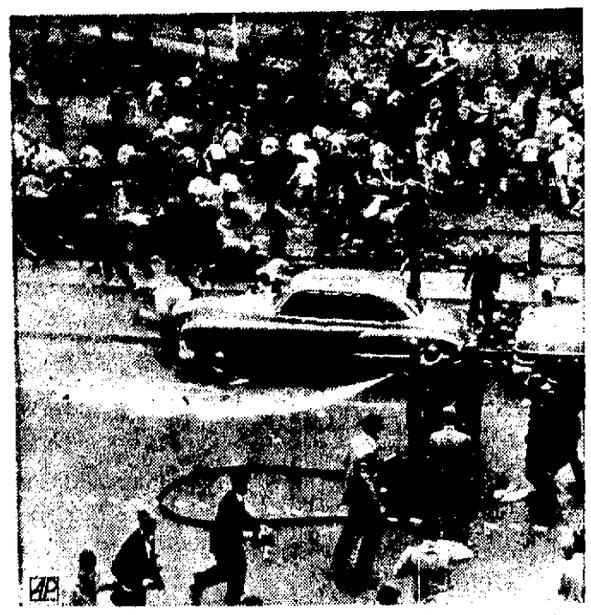
Baccalaureate services for the graduating class of Nevada High School will be held Sunday night at 8:15 in the high school auditorium.

The class sermon will be by the Rev. Don Young, pastor of the Oceola Evangelical United Brethren Church. His topic will be "Spiritual Commencement."

The Rev. Raymond C. Swisher, of McCutchenville, will present the sermon at baccalaureate services for the graduating class of McCutchenville High School Sunday night. The program will be presented in the school auditorium. There are 20 senior students in this year's graduating class.

The twenty-ninth annual baccalaureate services of Salem High School will be held Sunday night at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium. The class sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Paul E. Rohrbaugh, pastor of Trinity Evangelical and Reformed Church in Upper Sandusky. Ten seniors make up the graduating class.

Baccalaureate services for the graduating class of Marseilles High School will be held Sunday night May 18, at 8 at the Marseilles Methodist Church. The Rev. Eldon Riggs, pastor of the church, will bring the sermon to the class.



FIRE HOSE HALTS STUDENT RIOT. Yale University students flee for cover in New Haven, Conn., as firemen unlimber hose to break up a free-for-all. The tumult which reached riot proportions, started as a fight between two competing ice cream vendors, vying for a choice spot near the campus.

Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

At my reiteration of Lillian's words her big husband slumped heavily against the back of his chair.

"Now I've heard everything," he said. "What did Dicky say to Lillian?"

"He asked her first, caustically, if Marion were the daughter of Tom Morton, saying that he always had believed her to be, and when Lillian, realizing what he was doing, gave him a rather sullen affirmative, he told her that Helena Brixton had just as much right to object to Marion on the score of ancestry, as she had. By the time he got through, Lillian was as crushed as if he'd given her a hairbrush paddling instead of a verbal one."

"I see how it had to be done," Harry said, "but—I don't like it. And there's one thing wrong with the Dicky-bird's theorem. Marion has one superb parent, Lil, while Ronald has evil Helena Brixton for a mother and her worthless first husband as a father, a man so bad that Sam Brixton had to give Helena's children his name."

"I wonder," I said, voicing a thought that had been with me often since Helena Brixton had revealed the evil that lay beneath her gay and friendly mien.

Harry Underwood stared at me for a second, then pulled himself up in his chair and gave me alert attention.

"What do you mean?" he demanded.

"Just this,' I said. "Did any of us ever see the father of Ronald and Carolyn?"

He shook his head slowly.

"Has any one of us any knowledge of what he was—whether he was saint, sinner, or the normal combination of both which the most of us are—except what Helena Brixton has told us herself?" I asked next.

When he shook his head again, his eyes were alive with interest.

"I see what alley you're driving down," he said. "You think Helena may have lied about her husband, as she did about the torch Ronald was supposed to be carrying for that nurse. And, of course, Sam Brixton is a natural push-over, He'd believe anything Helena told him."

"That's just the point," I said. "I think, when I have time, I'll make myself into a one-woman investigating committee, and find out the truth about Ronald's father."

"You know the time-honored advice concerning sleeping dogs, don't you?" he asked.

"Yes," I answered, "but I don't intend, to let this one lie. However, I won't have time to do anything about it just now."

"No," he assented. "I can see you're going to have your hands full with poor Lil."

"You mean you are," I told him, and he looked up with alarm in his eyes.

"What's this?" he asked.

"Just what I told you before," I said. "You're the one hope we have of snapping Lillian out of this, but you'll have to be exceedingly wary about it. We've tried everything."

"Tell me," he said, and I outlined the talks I had had with Lillian, which had made me suspect she secretly was planning to see Ronald without Marion's knowledge, and encourage his refusal to marry his fiancee because of his disability. Then I told him of my father's interview with her which had left her utterly broken, and finally I related my last conversation with her.

"She told me," I finished, "that both my father and I were right in our conjecture about her 'vile scheme,' as she termed it. Then she added hopelessly that she couldn't help keeping on with it, because it was the only way to save Marion from lifelong unhappiness and grief."

Meat Packer Denies Guilt

FINDLAY, O. (AP) — Joseph Kirchner, former owner of the Kay Brand Packing Company, testified Thursday he "didn't know anything about" his company selling horsemeat as beef.

Questioned on testimony by Louis Wolff, former Kay Brand purchasing agent, who said he bought 30,000 pounds of horsemeat weekly for Kay Brand over a two-year period, Kirchner said "I thought he was buying Mexican beef."

Kirchner is the first of nine Kay Brand employes and officials to stand trial on charges of sale of horsemeat as beef. He faces 60 charges including bribery of a state food inspector and adulteration of a food product. His cross-examination continued today.

Lemon Chiffon Pie, Way To a Man's Heart

When man meets pie, it's often love at first bite — something to consider now that it's leap year! To aid the cause, here's a tangy lemon pie that will melt even the coldest heart. After all, who could resist its breezy, fresh lemon flavor?

LEMON CHIFFON PIE

5 T sugar
3 egg yolks
Grated rind one lemon
3 T lemon juice
⅛ t salt
3 egg whites
3 T sugar
1 8-inch baked pie shell

Combine first four ingredients in top of double boiler. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until thick. Cool. Add salt to egg whites; beat until stiff but not dry; beat in 3 tablespoons sugar. Fold in egg yolk mixture; spoon into baked pie shell. Bake in slow oven, 325 F, until top is lightly browned.

Marion Girl To Work In French Morocco

Miss Mary E. Lindsey of 371 Brightwood Dr., has accepted employment overseas and is to arrive at Westover Air Force Base, Chicopee Falls, Mass., Wednesday for flight to French Morocco. Miss Lindsey will be employed by the Mediterranean Division, Corps of Engineers as a clerk and will be stationed with the East Atlantic District at Nouasseur.

She left today and will drive to the New York Port of Embarkation where she will leave her automobile for shipment by water transportation. She expects to visit relatives in Canton, O., and in New York en route.

She has previously resided in Japan and during her stay was employed by the Eighth Army in Fujuoja, Kyushu, Japan in 1949. She has been employed by the Marion Engineer Depot since April 1950 and has had previous Federal service at the depot and at Wright Field. Her tour of duty in French Morocco will be for two years and at the completion of her assignment she expects to return to the depot. Lt. Col. T. H. Duerson, commanding officer at the depot has granted her reemployment rights to her former position.

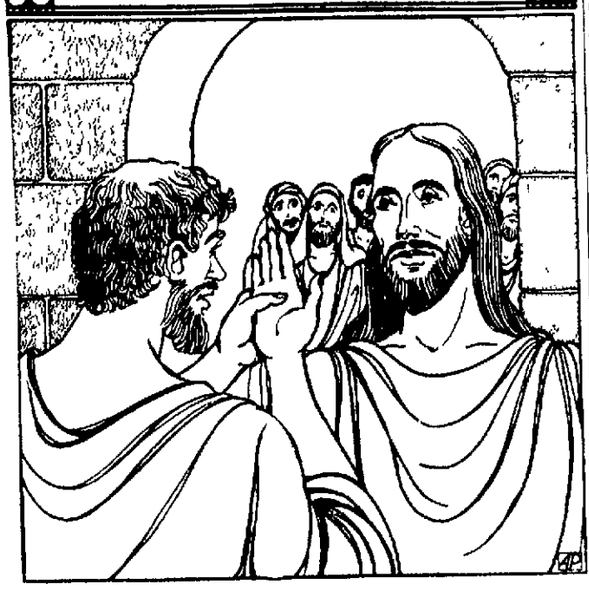
THE WORKS OF CHRIST



JESUS MAKES A WITHERED HAND WHOLE

And, behold, there was a man which had his hand withered And they asked him, saying Is it lawful to heal on the sabbath days? that they might accuse him

And he said unto them, What man shall there be among you, that shall have one sheep, and if it fall into a pit on the sabbath day, will he not lay hold on it and lift it out?

How much then is a man better than a sheep? Wherefore it is lawful to do well on the sabbath days

Then saith he to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it forth, and it was restored whole, like as the other

Any Damage Done?

WHEN Harold E. Stassen went on record a few days ago with an admission that his only purpose in the pre-convention campaign this year was to hurt a fellow Republican, Sen. Taft of Ohio, some of the mist was blown away from a murky situation.

But one thing remains murky, as far as Republican voters were concerned. When Stassen told U.S. News & World Report that he moved into the Republican presidential primaries because he and "his friends" decided Sen. Taft might run away with the nomination, he did not tell who those friends are.

Whether or not Stassen did any damage to the Taft campaign is hard to determine; he apparently wasted his time. But in so doing he wasted a great deal of somebody's money, too—money made available to him in wholesale lots by the aforesaid "friends."

It would be helpful to know who they are and what they had at stake which seemed to justify Harold Stassen's costly and futile effort to hurt a prominent leader in the Republican party.

One Ax To Grind

THE Senate banking committee proposes an end to ax-grinding executive commissions. Its recommendation that the Wage Stabilization Board be composed exclusively of public members is a milestone.

This would do away with the absurd arrangement of a tri-partite board composed of equal numbers of employers' spokesmen, union spokesmen and so-called public members. In the future all members would be bona fide public members. They hold the power of decision anyway, because the other two groups invariably end in deadlocks on close decisions.

The banking committee goes one step further by recommending that WSB appointees after June 30 be subject to confirmation by the Senate. This would short-circuit the New Deal-Fair Deal party line of packing appointive boards with partisans.

It remains to be seen how Congress will act on the banking committee's proposal. But in the United States there should be only one ax to grind by any agency acting in the name of all the people—the welfare of all the people.

The shocking disclosure of the way the WSB was used to carry out a presidential commitment to one side in an industrial dispute may have written finis to the vicious practice of turning national policy decisions over the appointees whose minds are closed.

Seek and Ye Shall Find

THIS forthcoming probe of objectional material in radio-TV programs and books, magazines and comic books to be conducted by a special committee of the House of Representatives will be fruitful.

There is an axiom about probes of this nature: seek and ye shall find.

The trouble is that the seeking always has a negative effect. It leaves the impression that the seekers found only one thing; namely what they said they were looking for.

That, in turn, leaves the impression there was nothing else to find, which is not true. Granted that the age-old demand for diversion which will not pass critical muster always has been and always will be supplied, there also is a market for diversion which will pass muster. It too always has been and always will be supplied.

In the long run, the public strikes the balance—not the few who attempt to pass judgment. Sooner or later, their judgment becomes arbitrary and querulous. It feeds on the lopsidedness of its approach.

It is too much to expect that the House probers will report on the wholesome material they found while scouting for unwholesome material. It probably is too much to expect that the probers will realize while they are scouting that the net effect of their efforts will be to pinpoint some of the very things they wish the public would not see.

The End of Topsy

THE official publication of International City Managers Association, Public Management, reports a fact of unusual interest in its current issue.

The interest is unusual because public management indicates that the era of Topsy growth in American cities is on the wane. Each year, according to information compiled by the association, more cities are setting aside more money to plan their development in the years ahead.

Here is the answer to the question which is most commonly asked about cities: How did they get that way?

What happened to create traffic bottlenecks, paralyzing congestion of functions, low water pressure in outlying areas, sewer falls which do not drain off water, blighted areas, underdeveloped areas and slums backed up against monumental edifices commemorating progress?

Cities got that way because they "just grew." Boston, it is said, was laid out on a cowpath pattern. The newer cities of the Middle West and the far West, in contrast, were planned more carefully. The result is immediately visible to visitors from the east.

The Union Shop Issue

By David Lawrence

Chief Cause of Crisis in Steel Controversy

WASHINGTON

IF IT WERE not for the "union shop" issue, the controversy in the steel industry would never have reached the critical stage it did. Many observers do not know that the words "union shop" are not at all related to the issue of whether a union can be organized in a shop. The phrase really means that the minority employes in a company are compelled against thier will to join the union or lose their jobs.

The Supreme Court of the United States has never said that compulsory unionization is constitutional. Congress, in the Taft-Hartley Act, merely said that if labor and management got together and wanted to impose by contract such a condition, there would be no penalty of law against it as there is against the "closed shop." Under the latter, nobody who isn't already a member of the union can be hired by the employer in the first instance. Under a so-called "union shop," the employe is given 30 days to join or not join and then may be fired from his job if he doesn't contribute out of his own pocket payments for union dues. It is the merest sophistry to argue, as some trade-union partisans do, that the minority who are compelled only to pay dues to the union are not having their rights transgressed because they are not in fact actual members of the union.

THE THEORY that a man must be compelled to pay tribute to any organization — whether religious, fraternal or professional — unless he himself voluntarily joins it is obnoxious and runs contrary to the Bill of Rights and the Constitution. Many years ago the Supreme Court of the United States ruled that an employer who refused to hire a worker because he was a member of a union violated the Constitution. It is, therefore, logical that the court would rule that the imposition of either union membership or non-membership as a condition of employment in free America is a denial of constitutional rights.

Sometimes the advocates of compulsory unionization defend it on materialistic grounds—that the minority should help pay the expenses of the majority, especially since, under the Wagner Law and later the Taft-Hartley Act, the representatives of the majority do the bargaining and hence perform duties that are beneficial to the minority. It is even suggested that there is an analogy to tax-paying. This type of fallacy is widespread and illustrates how far trade unionists have gone in setting up the doctrine of a super-government by labor unions which may tax at will and grant or withhold jobs at will.

THE ANSWER, of course, is that if such power to tax is given private organizations, then it would be logical for railroads to collect fares from persons who do not ride their trains but have railroad service conveniently maintained at the expense of those who do ride.

The device of requiring a worker to pay dues to a union he does not want to join is a revelation of basic weakness on the part of the labor unions. They argue for it on the ground that it is fair to impose such a condition as a means of supporting the finances of the union, but they never quite explain why they cannot persuade the minority to join on the merits of trade unionism.

It is often claimed, moreover, that, because some employers have granted the principle of compulsory unionization in their collective-bargaining contracts, this makes it desirable for other employers to do likewise. Usually the concession has been granted under the duress of a strike or threatened strike. It has rarely been given to the unions without a struggle. But, worst of all, even if the private parties do contract for something that has never been finally tested in the Supreme Court, it is an offense against individual rights for the government itself to impose compulsory unionization, as the so-called "public" members of the wage stabilization board did the other day.

It is precisely such abuses of power that divide the country and bring on crises which paralyze production and break the spirit of harmony that can and should prevail in a national emergency.

Ohio "Get Out the Vote" Plan Spreads

By Raymond Moley

TULSA, OKLA.

WHETHER BOB TAFT is or is not on the ballot next November, his great campaign in Ohio in 1950 will have repercussions that will profoundly influence the result. The victory of Taft in Ohio in 1950 was not strictly a party affair. What made his election possible was not only his incredibly energetic personal appeal, but the development of citizens' movements in many parts of the state to instruct voters and get out the vote. Thousands of people participated in these movements who had never before in their lives touched a political activity.

One of the most significant of the movements was carried on by a group under the leadership of Freeman Guerin of Columbus. They called themselves "The Active Citizenship League." Guerin says that "instead of wringing our hands, we decided that ringing door bells would be a more effective way in combatting this growing intrusion into our liberty."

THIS GUERIN IDEA came to my attention in 1950, and I have an account of it in my recent book, "How to Keep Our Liberty." Guerin seemed to me to have hit upon one of the most effective means of overcoming the threat of socialism at home and communism abroad by more citizen activity at the polls. Certainly a country in which 42,000,000 eligible voters refused to do their duty in 1948 needs something to awaken it.

Guerin, who is a conscientious patriot willing to give time to this highly important but difficult job, has expanded his idea into what he calls the "Ohio Plan" and is inspiring people in other states to start similar movements. The idea has been taken up here in Tulsa by a businessman, Opie Dimmicko. The Tulsa group call their movement the "Citizens' Plan." Following the general outline of the Ohio Plan, the Tulsa movement is dedicated to a nonpartisan effort to oppose the trend toward socialism in our government.

ALSO FOLLOWING the Ohio Plan, the fight this year will be divided into three campaigns. This idea, which apparently came from Guerin, is genuinely original and ingenious. First is the red campaign. That is to get an organization going, because such a movement needs a lot of able and public-spirited men and women to volunteer money and time. The next is called the white campaign. That is the educational part. It requires an intensive drive to inform people, by the written and spoken word, of the issues and the qualifications of candidates.

The third is the blue campaign. This is the real test. It will be a grass-roots campaign to get people to register and vote. For no amount of propaganda and no amount of argument can avail unless people are routed out on registration and election days. The vote is the payoff.

There ought to be thousands of versions of the Ohio Plan in operation this fall. It seems to me that Freeman Guerin of Columbus, Ohio, has started something really worth while in a perplexing political springtime.

Roses by Other Names

By TRUMAN TWILL

AN INTERVIEW with the three Twillery dogs reflects the growing concern of the canine world with chlorohpyll. Making no bones about it, Freda, Freckles and Mortimer made it clear they have no confidence in the nationwide drive to remove certain unpleasant aromas from the American way of life.

They have found nothing wrong with odors in their experience; in fact, Freckles, the Dalmatian, a newcomer on the premises, admitted he would have found things on the boring side had it not been for the exciting odors of skunks, woodchucks, rabbits, his two companions and the people He, too, is fond of onions, chives and cheese.

The trouble, the dogs agreed, is that when people get hold of an idea like this new one of making odorous things odorless they have no judgment. Right away they try it out on the dogs, without consultation. Dogs at least would have had the decency to be tactful in a situation like this, if it were people who were giving offense to them. And don't think people don't, they chorused. Dogs hate after-shave lotion and all perfumes.

Furthermore, Freda pointed out, if the stuff that makes grass green makes animals odorless, what accounts for the heady aroma of a goat which eats nothing but grass? Could be, suggested this knowledgeable spaniel, that someone is being sold a bill of goods. Mortimer, the Irish setter, a breed famous for the keeness of its sense of smell, supposed the next damfoolishness would be to put the stuff in bird seed. But that would not worry him, he allowed. For his money chlorophyll itself gave off a more positive scent than most of the scents he specialized in. He surmised he could always spot the users of chlorophyll without trouble.

WHAT, THE DOGS wanted to know, would be the sense of a world barren of odors, assuming that such a thing were possible? They personally could not make such an assumption, though agreeing that mankind probably would make a stab at it. They recalled that attempts had been made to deodorize Ringling Brothers Circus on one occasion and probably would be made again now that science had provided an inside-out approach.

They did admit, in favor of chlorophyll, that the reason dogs eat grass in season is because their instinct prompts them to do this. All dogs privileged to live in the open, as they do, they explained, eat quantities of grass and consequently are free from the odors which make so many town dogs objectionable to people, though not to other dogs.

It seems no more than fair that if the world is going to be made smell-less, the canine point of view should be published along with that of the people who have chlorophyll to sell.

Pigeon-Trapper

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) — Tom Marshall, self-appointed pigeon trapper, has resumed the job he began in 1949 — helping to hold down Yakima's pigeon population. In January he captured 165 pigeons atop a downtown hotel with his wooden crate-like cage and a few handfuls of grain. He dresses the birds and gives them away.

Head Light

A mine isn't the only place where a miner's lamp may be convenient. Business Week reports a clever use in a government warehouse. The lamp, battery powered, with reflector above the forehead—like the throat specialist's "headlight"—guides record clerks working in the files, saves an expensive wiring job. Librarians and others who mine among shelves might find such a lamp useful. There are even possibilities around the house.—OSU Science & Appliance.

Beer Consumption Up

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Germany again is living up to her reputation as a nation of beer drinkers, latest federal statistics reveal. Beer consumption per head of the 49 million West Germans rose to 11.6 gallons in 1951 compared with 9.2 gallons in 1950. The pre-war high was reached in 1929 when 22.5 gallons per person was consumed by the then 65 million inhabitants of Germany.

Revolutions Not Wars

By CYRIL RAY

The writer spent 18 months in Moscow as the only full-time British newspaper correspondent there. He has returned to England and is able to give uncensored reports about Russian life.

LONDON

Sooner or later, the traveler returned from Russia is asked the inevitable and inescapable question: Will there be war?

Now this isn't quite a fair question to ask. Obviously, the international situation is so tense that a false move by either side could precipitate a clash that neither side may want.

So nobody dare say that there won't be war, but if I'm asked whether Russia wants war, or is likely to force a war, then my answer is no.

It isn't Russian peace propaganda that makes me think so, but the facts of the case, and here they are, as I see them:

Russia is embarked on a vast program of material progress — hydroelectric and irrigation schemes, big building plans to improve housing and provide other amenities. It has no wish to divert men and material from these schemes, or have them destroyed by bombs and shells.

Both regime and people are convinced, rightly or wrongly, that given another 20 years or so of peace, Russia's standard of living will be comparable with America's, and its heavy industrial potential so great that no power or combination of powers would dare to attack it.

Russia suffered heavier losses in the last war than any other belligerent, and will not willingly see those losses incurred again.

By tradition and training the Russians are defenders of Russian soil, not invaders of other countries.

Even the most rigid of dictatorships must take account of public opinion. It would be difficult to "sell" a war of aggression—a war that began with the Red Army crossing the frontier—to 200 million shrewd and skeptical Russians, who have been stuffed for years with their own regime's peace propaganda.

The Russians believe that they are making great material progress, and that war would set them back for at least a generation. Why should they go to war? And for what?

But Russia is run by Marxists, and Marx taught that the capitalist world in its decline would make one final attempt to bring down the socialist world in ruin.

So, though they do not want war they are convinced of its historic probability—convinced that the Western Powers, led by the United States, will attack Russia if and when they feel strong enough to do so.

What, then, does Russia conceive to be its duty and its mission?

Clearly to weaken the Western World in every way it can—to postpone the coming war, to make it impossible for the West to win, or to insure that the West will collapse even before it goes to war.

What Marx described as the internal contradictions of the capitalist system must be fostered and exploited—Anglo-American rivalries; the conflicting interests of capital and labor and among classes; and those among the colonizing powers and the colonial and "semicolonial" countries.

This is what a British diplomat in Moscow meant when he said to me: "Russia isn't interested in wars; it's interested in revolutions."

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

Marion County men were with the Ninety-Sixth Regiment when it fired the last volley on April 12, 1865, at Whistler Station seven miles above Mobile, Ala., in a lively skirmish with Dick Taylor's retreating forces. The regiment returned to Mobile on the 9th of May where it remained until mustered out on July 7, 1865. The regiment, from the time of entering the Civil War to the close was active continuously and most of the time in hard service. The regiment marched 1,683 miles, and was transported by boat 7,686 miles, by railroad 517 miles, making a total of 9,886 miles.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The Schools and The Ponies

CASES WHERE schoolboys are taking bets on horses and other sports from other schoolchildren are being reported, in one of which a kid bookie was making from $50 to $100 a week in small-change wagers. We just heard of a lad who, asked why he hadn't stuck to his prescribed studies, replied, "I got touted off 'em." All of which has got to be stopped. We don't want the small fry bringing teacher a green sheet daily double instead of a red apple.

Once the little monsters are permitted to become followers of the ponies, holding their interest in the three R's will become a major problem, with the exam papers coming back like this:

Q.—Name three Americans famous in current history

A.—Arcaro, Atkinson and Guerin.

Q.—What three inventions have meant most to modern civilization"

A.—The electric starting gate, the $2 mutuel machine and the race-recording camera.

Q.—Name the largest peaks in the world.

A.—Mt. Everest, Mt. McKinley and Hill Gail.

Q.—Who was Aristides"

A.—Winner of the first Kentucky Derby.

Q.—Who said "Damn the torpedoes, full speed ahead!"?

A.—Ben Jones.

Q.—What does the Latin phrase "In hoc signo vinces mean"

A.—Don't tear up your mutuel tickets; the race is not yet official.

Q.—Complete the line "Of all sad words of tongue or pen, the saddest are . . .

A.—He finished ninth in a field of ten.

Q.—What were Isabella's parting words to Columbus as he sailed for America"

A.—Lay off the pace and remember this is an event for a real router.

Q.—Who said "Don't give up the ship""

A.—It must have been the jockey on Sub Fleet in the 1952 Run for the Roses.

Q.—Define the Mason and Dixon Line.

A.—It's probably a morning line as sent to Dixon by Mason from Pimlico.

Q.—Who was Eli Whitney?

A.—Founder of a great racing stable.

Q.—Repeat the famous exclamation of Alexander Graham Bell when he heard the first spoken words over a telephone!

A.—Okay, bet it across the board!

Q.—Who said "One if by land two if by sea, and I on the opposite shore will be!"?

A.—Frankie Erickson after the wire racing-service had been cut off.

Q.—What are the Three R's?

News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO—It was Saturday, May 16, 1942

Adolf Hitler's field headquarters asserted that German troops had occupied the Crimean town of Kerch, gateway to Caucasus oil riches, but a greater prize appeared to be falling within the grasp of the Red armies -the big Ukraine city of Kharkov.

James Harvey Oborn, 80, of 261 Olney Ave., former operator of a feed store at 255 Olney Ave., died in City Hospital.

Miss Ruth Beaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Beaver of west of Green Camp, became the bride of Robert Aikin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Aikin of LaRue. The wedding took place at the home of the Rev. Robert Diller, pastor of the Evangelical and Reformed Church in Prospect.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gelbaugh Jury, 83, widow of the late Samuel Winslow Jury and a resident of Wyandot for nearly 61 years, died in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Helen McBride, of a half-mile east of Wyandot.

A son was born at City Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vestal of 1224 E. Church St.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — It was Monday, May 16, 1932.

Marion's annual cleanup and paintup campaign started with the city furnishing special truck service in disposing of rubbish and ashes. Service Director E. O. Uncapher was in charge.

Robert Dutt, 12, won the marble shooting championship of the city.

Premier Tsuyoshi Inukai, Japan's 77-year-old premier, was the second premier to die by an assassin's hand in less than a year. He was shot down at his home by a band of young army and naval cadets who apparently had hatched an abortive plot to destroy the government and seize the capital.

Capt. Robert Dollar, 86, noted veteran of the steamship and lumber industries, died at San Rafael, Calif.

Mrs. Walter Macken was elected president of the Delphian Society when it held its last meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. Millard Thibaut west of Green Camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kerr of Powhattan St. returned from Palm Beach, Fla., where they spent the winter. Mr. Kerr, a clerk in the Marion postoffice, had been transferred to the Palm Beach office for several months.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

That Koje camp situation is apt to go to the War Labor Board . . . The Pentagon is hedging on collective bargaining.

But democracy really is catching on everywhere . . . Those prisoners of war who demanded collective bargaining probably represent our best triumph in Korea to date.

—:—

So far our fellows haven't thought of demanding time and a half for stalled truce negotiations but the enemy prisoners have named their shop steward and started picketing the jailer.

—:—

The closed shop provision and the checkoff probably will be sustained but not the guaranteed annual police action.

—:—

A change in administration might shift the whole country over to temporary employment in temporary peacetime jobs.

—:—

I don't know that we could stand peace . . . Anything new, like a non-emergency, takes time to get accustomed to.

LaRue PTA Hears County School Official

Special to The Star

LARUE—The Final meeting for the year was held Monday night by the Parent-Teachers Association at the school auditorium. After repeating the Pledge to the Flag, led by the president, Mrs. Ivan Cooper, the invocation was spoken by Rev. Leland Wiley. The attendance award was won by the third grade for the most parents present.

A report on the PTA project, the sponsoring of the driver's training program, was given by Mrs William Guthery, in regard to the dance held at the school Friday night. She announced that there would be another dance on June 6 for the project. A trio composed of Barbara Benson, Edith Hoover and Sue Brashear accompanied at the piano by Glenn Johnson, sang a group of songs.

Ivan Barnhart, personnel director of the Marion County schools, was the guest speaker. His subject was "A Successful Parent-Teacher Association." The door prize was won by Mrs. Rowland McElheny. The PTA will serve the annual banquet to the LaRue Alumni Association May 24 at the school auditorium.

WOMEN EMPLOYES OF THE management office at the Marion Engineer Depot entertained with a shower complimenting Miss Barbara J. Oiler, a bride-elect of June 1, Tuesday evening in the Officers Club. Mrs. Pauline Clement entertained with a group of piano numbers. Contest awards were won by Mrs. John Hachten and Mrs. Marvin LaRue. Miss Oiler was presented a gift from the group.

Appointments were in the honor guest's colors of orchid and petal pink. The table was centered with large gold wedding rings and a miniature bride and bridegroom. Each place was marked with a wedding ring to which was caught a violet and bow of pink ribbon. Miss Oiler's place was marked with "Special Date" salt and pepper shakers upon which was inscribed "Barb and Fred, May 13, 1952," the shower date. Tall tapers and flowers completed the decorations.

Present with Miss Oiler, whose marriage to Frederick C. Binau of Upper Sandusky will take place in Trinity Baptist Church, were: Mrs. Ellis Oiler, Misses Gladys Fruth, Bridget Nicolosi, Betty Williams, Martha Kelly, Maxine Hawk, Jeanne Qualntance, Mary Lindsey, Donna Swartz, Lucille Kennedy, Betty Harvitt and Joyce Hailey, Mrs. Pauline Clement, Mrs. Sam McDougal, Mrs. Chester Morris, Mrs. Mary Bertsch, Mrs. Eldon Gist, Mrs. Marvin LaRue, Mrs. Roy F. Berg, are: program, Anita Porter, Carol Hoch, Jean Bibbee, Ben Bechtle and Gene Greer; year book, Phyllis Corbin and Sally Schneider. Further committee appointments will be made at the picnic to be held May 29 at the home of Ruth Bosley in Morral. Carol Hock and Linnea Gonzales assisted the hostess.

A potluck dinner at the Women's Club Home Saturday evening closed the season for the Mid-Century Literary Club. Husbands of the members were guests. During a brief business session Mrs. Robert Stout, who will serve as president next season, announced her committees. The evening was spent socially. Arrangements were in charge of the social committee headed by Mrs. Robert Higdon, chairman.

—:—

Circle 17 of the Child Conservation League installed new officers when they met Monday night at the home of Mrs. Paul Woodruff, 532 Mt. Vernon Ave., with Mrs. Charles Seebach assisting the hostess.

Installed were Mrs. Harold Fralich, president; Mrs. Paul McMahan, vice president; Mrs. Robert Glosser, treasurer; Mrs. Charles Kelleher, recording secretary, and Mrs. Robert McAndrew, corresponding secretary.

Committee chairmen named were Mrs. McMahan, program; Mrs. Richard Garfield, social; Mrs. John Paulus, telephone; Mrs. Kelleher, reporter; Mrs. Glosser, ways and means; Mrs. Robert Wanner, welfare; Mrs. McAndrew, cards and flowers, and Mrs. Nelson Ritzler, scrapbook and sales tax stamps.

The Rev. William Reeves of the Wesley Methodist Church spoke to the circle on the "Chain of Friendship."

Mrs. Vernon Bosh, German war bride, spoke at the preceding meeting on life in Germany. Mrs. Emmett Osterholt was in charge with Mrs. Howard Carey and Mrs. McAndrew assisting.

Mothers were guests when the Child Life Circle of the Child Conservation League entertained recently at the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. hall.

Marion Garden Center Notes

LILIES

The Foxtail lily will lend an air of picturesque stateliness to a border planting, and because it is so striking in appearance it is steadily gaining popularity with American gardeners. It throws up giant flower stalks from a dense clump of narrow pointed leaves. The foliage spikes start to die down when the plant blooms. The flower stalks reach a height of 6 to 12 feet, and each bloom is made up of several hundred starry tubular flowers in shades of yellow, peach, pink and white which produce an enormous plume, not unlike a fox's tail, from which this lily gets its common name of foxtail. The plants are best set out in the fall. They should be arranged in groups of not less than three and are even more effective in masses of 6 to 12. The plants thrive in any sunny, well-drained location. Although these plants belong to the lily family they are not bulbs but have fleshy roots, spread in all directions. Plant in a hole 12 to 18 inches in diameter. Spread out the roots in a horizontal or starfish position. Be sure to cover the crown with four inches of soil to prevent winter injury. The plants are heavy feeders and the soil can not be too rich to suit them.

Gets $3,500 Judgment In Suit at Bucyrus

BUCYRUS—S. Wynn Goodman, Shaker Heights, O., former president of the Stratbury Manufacturing Co. in Galion, was awarded $3,500 at a hearing here Thursday before Common Pleas Judge John C. Carroll. His suit was for $5,650.

The case was scheduled to be heard before a jury but defense attorneys waived a jury trial and Judge Carroll heard the case on pleadings and evidence.

Goodman alleged that on Oct. 21, 1946, while he was company president, the firm entered into an oral contract with him continuing him in office until Oct. 31, 1947. He charged that he was paid $11,700 in weekly installments of $225 instead of $17,350, which he claimed was due him under terms of the contract. He resigned as president, effective Oct. 31, 1947.

Boy Injured In Accident

Danny Cafagno, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cafagno of 411 Park Blvd., suffered a knee injury Thursday afternoon when involved in a traffic accident.

Police reported the youngster was riding a bicycle at the intersection of Olney Ave and W. Columbia St. A car driven by John E. Price, 34, of near Marion collided with the bicycle. The injured boy was not hospitalized.

Police also reported two traffic arrests Thursday night and this morning.

Gary Lamoyne Louderbeck, 18, of near Marion was arrested late Thursday on E. Center St and charged with reckless operation. He posted a $35 bond for his appearance today in Municipal Court.

Richard Eugene St. Clair, 19, of Galion was arrestd on Mt. Vernon Ave. at 1:35 this morning and charged with speeding. He posted a $35 bond for a Municipal Court appearance today.

Personal Mention

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce R. Howard, formerly of Toledo, now are residents of Marion and are living in their new home at No. 12 Woods Allotment. Mr. Howard is state agent for the Excelsior Insurance Co. of Syracuse, N. Y.

Ohio Anniversary Program Set For TV Discussion

"Why is Ohio celebrating its Sesquicentennial?" is the question that will be answered by a businessman, a historian and a representative of the Ohio Sesquicentennial Commission in an hour-long discussion before the Columbus Town Meeting next Sunday.

Members of the panel will be Eugene D. Rigney, president of the Chillicothe Chamber of Commerce; Frank Siedel of Cleveland, author of "The Ohio Story," and Erwin C. Zepp of Columbus, executive secretary of the Ohio Sesquicentennial Commission, and director of the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society. C Emory Glander will be moderator.

The program will be televised by Station WBNS-TV, Channel 10, and broadcast by radio station WBNS, 1460, KC, starting at 1 p.m.

TWO MEN FINED

BUCYRUS—Two Marion men, John Cratty, 18, of 514 Blaine Ave., and Clyde Garey, 34, of 550 Toledo Ave., pleaded guilty recently to charges of unlawful use of firearms and were fined $50 and costs each at their arraignment before Justice of Peace Robert C. Neff. The men were arrested by Sheriff Ralph E. Schreck after he caught them shooting a duck, belonging to Harry Franks, Mt. Zion farmer. The sheriff said he saw the men pull the duck from the creek. He said they were using rifles with telescopic sights. Both were released from the Crawford County jail after paying their fines.

Marion Boys Admit Breaking Into Cabin

BUCYRUS—Sheriff Ralph E Schreck reported here today two Marion boys, 10 and 13 years of age, have admitted breaking into a cabin southwest of Bucyrus, and stealing some food and other articles

The sheriff said parents of the two boys will come here Saturday to pay for the loss The cabin is the property of August Widman, Bucyrus

The boys broke a cabin window to gain entrance, took some cooking utensils and food and chopped down two trees on the premises, the sheriff said.

Old Delaware School Will Be Abandoned

DELAWARE — The Old North School in Delaware will not be used for classes next fall if estimated enrollment figures remain approximately as they are now, according to an announcement made Tuesday night at a meeting of the Delaware Board of Education

Supt D R Smith told the group that steps have been taken to abandon the old North School because of objections from parents and board members A factor in the decision was the assurance of Miss Ruth Boardman, principal of West School, that more pupils can be handled at that school next fall through combining grade groups

First grade enrollment in Delaware for next fall is estimated at slightly over 200 If this figure does not increase, it will not be necessary to use the old North School, Supt Smith said

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK (INS)—The stock market showed an improved tone today although worthwhile gains were limited to a small number of issues

The ability of the general list to recover late Thursday from the effects of an earlier selling attack encouraged hopes in Wall Street that a more extended rally was in the offing. This brought in cautious buying by day-to-day traders in many of the recently depressed favorites.

The volatile Texas Pacific Land Trust gained 3 points, more than making up its 2-point less of Thursday International Paper was up 1; Cities Service up ¾; and lesser gains were credited to Chrysler, DuPont, General Electric, U.S. Steel, and Standard Oil of New Jersey.

Rail shares eked out small advances. Among those to move into the plus column were New York Central, Rock Island and Baltimore and Ohio.

The Dow-Jones industrial average was up 35 cents. The rails gained 23 cents; and the utilities were off one cent.

Volume showed an encouraging first hour pick-up to 220,000 shares, the most active of the week.

man 92, Kefauver 87½. Convention requires 616 votes.

Kefauver, however, appeared a cinch to pick up all 12 of Oregon's Democratic delegation, being chosen today in a primary. The Tennesseon is the only all-out entry in the party's preferential voting and these results are binding on the delegation.

Gen. Dwight Eisenhower ranked as a favorite in the Republican popularity poll, which Sen Robert Taft of Ohio did not enter. Whether Eisenhower wins all 18 or just 10 of the Republican delegates depends upon the vote for eight unpledged candidates for the posts.

Sunny skies are expected to bring out about two thirds of Oregon's 778,000 registered voters. That would set a record.

Galion Traffic Problems Discussed

Report Trains Hold Up Autos 3½ Hours in Day

Special To The Star

GALION—A second general discussion of Galion's traffic congestion problem was held Wednesday between the Galion Traffic Commission and New York Central Railroad officials

The city has been seeking a second traffic artery through Galion to relieve congestion of local traffic by asking the railroad company to open East Atwood street across the tracks

L A Champ of Springfield, O division superintendent and W G Voelker, Galion trainmaster, represented the railroad company at Wednesday's meeting. Mayor Jay F Nichols, president of the Traffic Commission, presided Edward H Jones city solicitor, and Kenneth Shaffer, city engineer, were present with the traffic commission

The railroad officials indicated that they will try to improve switching and other conditions in order not to hold up the Harding Way East crossing which is Galion s main traffic artery Spokesmen for the railroad also proposed that they could eliminate the stop in Galion for Train No 16 which stops here at 7 25 p m with passengers from Cincinnati and Columbus bound for Cleveland and New York The men also explained that with revamping about 24 minutes of crossing hold-up of motor traffic could be saved They had made a survey of time that trains hold up the crossing This is nearly 3½ hours in a period of 24 hours The survey was made from 6 a m May 1, to 6 a m, May 2 In that time there were 29 movements over the crossing due to railroad yard activities 64 movements due to railroad travel, a total of 93 movements Standing time was 43 minutes, the railroad men said and it took 170 minutes for trains to pass over the crossing that were moving All together this was 213 minutes to hold up the crossing or about 3½ hours

All members of the Traffic Commission have personally investigated the traffic congestion problem Some time ago the commission recommended the opening of E Atwood St to relieve the congestion and provide another artery to move local traffic through the city

Harding Signs Machine Over For Drive

A Jones and Lamson thread grinder given to Harding Vocational High School by the government at the close of World War II was recently signed over to the government in cooperation with the State Department of Education

All cities, counties and schools were asked this week by the State Department of Education to return unused or unneeded metal-working machinery distributed as war surplus property, according to an Associated Press release

The thread grinder was among other machinery given or sold to Harding Vocational School through the education department at the close of World War II

The thread grinder was found to be impractical for school purposes and therefore was signed over to the government It has been assigned to the Chrysler Corp of Newark Del , for defense production and will be shipped there in the near future

Dr Clyde Hissong education director, says the federal government now needs metal-working machinery badly The heavy demand for such tools means some defense contractors now placing orders cannot get delivery before 1959, he added

Dr Hissong said the government also is interested in buying metal-working machinery which schools and other institutions have bought through regular trade channels

Lawmakers Vote Selves Tax Relief

Rider on Budget Bill Allows $2,000 Income Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a complete reversal of previous demands for belt-tightening economy, the House has voted substantial tax relief for itself and senators and free hometown office space for congressmen.

The measure swept through the House Thursday as it passed the last of the annual domestic budget measures, a bill appropriating funds to operate Congress.

On all previous budget bills except one financing local river and harbor and flood control projects, the House had reduced allotments recommended by its appropriations committee. Demands for economy accompanied all the reductions.

The congressional budget bill cleared by voice vote and went to the Senate with the distinction of being the first bill this year on which the House actually raised the allotments recommended by the appropriations committee.

The bill's total of $62,391,780 was $1,500 more than the committee had suggested, although about 10 million below Budget Bureau recommendations. The money finances Congress, the Library of Congress, the Government Printing Office and related arms of the legislative Department.

More Traffic Signs

The $1,500 increase was for installation of more traffic signs and signs on Capitol Hill.

But two other amendments, for tax relief and free office rental, could run the added cost of the bill into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The tax amendment was offered by Democratic leader McCormack of Massachusetts and approved without a show of opposition or discussion. The bill's Democratic and Republican managers announced willingness to accept it and the other members went along.

An examination of the amendment by newsmen disclosed its intent, which McCormack verified.

It says that for purposes of federal taxation, members of Congress have their place of residence in the state or district they represent. This means that their expenses while on official business away from home are deductible as business expenses for tax purposes.

Since Congress normally stays in session almost the entire year, a member could deduct the cost of his housing, meals, transportation, business entertainment, laundry and many other things while in Washington.

$2,000 Deduction

For most members this could mean a tax reduction of around $2,000 annually. Those with higher than average living standards might pay no taxes at all.

The amendment takes effect with the tax year starting Jan. 1, the same time that the present tax exemption on a congressman's annual $2,500 expense allowance ends.

Senators and representatives are paid $12,500 a year, plus a $2,500 expense allowance which now is tax-free. Besides that they receive smaller allotments for stationery, postage, communications and travel.

McCormack told newsmen the amendment merely puts members of Congress "on the same footing with others who come to Washington on business." He said business men are entitled to deduct for tax purposes their expenses while away from home and congressmen should have the same consideration.

U.S. Fighter Ace Shot Down Over Korea

U.S. FIFTH AIR FORCE, KOREA (AP)—The Air Force announced today that Col. Walker M. Mahurin, one of America's greatest fighter pilots, was shot down over Korea Tuesday.

The 33-year-old Sabre jet pilot who downed more than 25 planes in two wars hasn't been heard from since he radioed:

"I've been hit by flak and I think I'm on fire."

The Air Force said it didn't know whether he parachuted.

Mahurin, from Fort Wayne, Ind., was pioneering the use of Sabre jet fighting in dive bombing. That was one of his jobs as a combat group commander of the Fourth Fighter Wing.

He was on his third mission of the day. He led Sabre dive bombing attacks on Communist airfields at Sinuiju across the Yalu River from Manchuria and on the rail network at Kunu, 85 miles to the southeast. He was hit over Kunu.

Norman Fogt Heads Marion Education Assoc.

Norman Fogt was elected president at a meeting of the Marion Education Association Monday afternoon at Harding High School. Other officers are James Hill, vice president; Mrs. Viola Rinnert, secretary; Raymond Tata, treasurer.

Fogt was named a delegate and Miss Jeanette Powers alternate to the National Education Association convention to be held at Detroit June 29-July 4. Fogt and Hill were elected to attend a Leaders' Training Conference at Camp Muskingum in September. Alternate is Donald Baggs.

The following reports were given: Norman Fogt, legislation; Miss Bessie Snider, professional relations; Mrs. Viola Rinnert, professional activities; Miss Janet Geddis, social; Mrs. Dorothy Kiehm, flowers; Miss Reta Van Meter, advisory council. Miss Clara Alice Wilson, president, presided.

The association will close its activities with a picnic supper at Rohrbough's near Delaware, Thursday, May 22.

Farmer Hurt In Accident Near Galion

GALION—A Crawford County farmer, Harvey C. Klink of near Chatfield, was seriously injured Thursday night when his car struck a farm tractor driven by Wesley Ritzhaupt of the Bucyrus Galion road, then swung around into the path of an approaching car driven by Donald Albright of Bucyrus.

The accident occurred at 9:45 p.m. on State Route 19, two and one-half miles west of Galion. Ritzhaupt's home is near the scene of the accident.

Both Klink and Ritzhaupt were traveling east, and Crawford County Sheriff Ralph Schreck's office, investigating the accident, reported Klink hit the plows being pulled behind Ritzhaupt's farm tractor.

The plows and the Klink car were demolished and the front end of the Albright car was badly damaged. Neither Ritzhaupt nor Albright were injured.

Klink suffered a possible brain concussion and scalp and facial lacerations. His conditions is reported to be "fair." He was taken to Galion City Hospital in the Snyder ambulance.

MacArthur

these portions of his address most heavily.

The retired liberator of Japan warned, the history of the world shows that republics and democracie have generally lost their liberties by way of passing from civilian to a quasi-military status.

"It would be a tragic development," he continued, "if this generation was forced to look to the rigidity of military dominance and discipline to redeem it from the tragic failure of a civilian administration.

"It might well destroy our historic and wise concept which holds to the supremacy of the civil powers."

MacArthur lashed the national administration, which retired him as supreme Far Eastern commander.

Inconsistent Policy

"Our leaders," he said, "are unable to survey the world as a unit, but have become so infatuated with the one area of Western Europe that they have largely ignored the Communist assault in many other sections of the globe.

"In one section of the world we oppose colonialism," MacArthur said; "in another we support it. In one sector we bristle; in another, we appease. . . . Our European pre-occupation is so great that we almost entirely ignore the enemy in other areas and even allow continental Asia to go by inertia and default. . . . In Korea, where victory was in our grasp, we go from bad to worse."

MacArthur asked what would follow an "uneasy 'cease fire' " in Korea.

"No answer has been forthcoming," he declared, "but the dreadful fear is growing in many patriotic hearths that the decision will finally be 'Scuttle the Pacific,' a yielding to the Iron Curtain of all our traditional friends and alliances and the raw resources of that half of the globe so vital in the balance of world power."

FIVE-DAY FORECAST

Temperatures will average near normal. Normal maximum 68 north to 74 south. Normal minimum 48 north to 50 south. A little warmer Sunday, cool Monday and Tuesday, warmer Wednesday. Showers tonight and Saturday and again late Tuesday and Wednesday, totaling three-fourths to one and a half inches.

ANOTHER BLAST SET

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The next atomic test, delayed by heavy radioactivity from the most recent shot at Yucca Flat, is scheduled tentatively for Saturday morning. Although the blast had been slated for last Monday, the abnormal radioactivity from the May 7 test prevented workmen from getting on the site.

MOST OF THE FARM FRIENDS of the late Lyal Messenger who took part in Thursday's plowing and planting of the summer corn crop on the Messenger farm are shown above. Several of the 26 tractors used in the project are shown in the background. The Messenger farm is located on Route 30-S, four miles east of Marion.

Friends Plant Corn Field For Widow of Lyal Messenger

Neighbors and friends of Lyal Messenger, who died last week, pitched in and planted 26 acres of corn for Mrs. Messenger Thursday.

The work was done because Messenger was always willing to help someone else.

"He was the biggest hearted man that ever lived," one of his neighbors said. "He certainly will be missed around here, and we just couldn't let his corn field go unplanted."

In all, 26 tractors, 16 with plows and 10 with discs, arrived on the Messenger farm at 9:30 a.m. Thursday. In two hours they had finished plowing and discing and the land was ready for seed.

Five hours later, the corn was planted. Grain and fertilizer were purchased by Mrs. Messenger, and those who assisted in the planting provided gas for their own machinery

The "helping hand" group was made up of the following neighbors and members of United Grange: Paul Augenstein, Earl Seckel, Robert Belt, Eugene Showers, Kenneth Comstock, Jerry Comstock, Charles Smith, Bryon Windom, Robert Hinamon, Dale Irey, Ferd Lawrence, Pete Hollingsworth, Lawrence Racey, Ralph Augenstein, George Earl, William Earl, Kenneth Foos, Eugene Foos, Cecil Murphy, Calvin Baldinger, Edwin Messenger, George Roush, Glenn Pickett, Ralph Bauer, Wallace Coulter, Pearl Shirk, Chester Fulton, Clyde Smith, Clay Smith, Herbert Lawrence, Paul Showers, Royal Fields, Harold Smith, Hugh Johnston and Albert Ruth.

Kwinem's wife is Vera, 28. They have a daughter, Susan, 2. She told police in Cleveland that her husband had been associating the past few weeks with several men whom she called "safe-crackers."

All three men were wanted by Cleveland police for questioning in connection with various crimes but none of them had ever been arrested for safe cracking.

Believed Killed Thursday

Kwinem was probably killed Thursday by a bullet wound in the head. His body was then taken to a woods on the Elmer Wyss farm in southwestern Wyandot County and then blown up with a dynamite charge. The explosion was heard by neighbors Thursday night at about 9:30 but was thought to have come from a nearby stone quarry and no investigation was made.

The remains of Kwinem's body were discovered by Wyss Monday afternoon when he hauled a load of junk to the woods.

Lauerhass and Horay, on April 27, 1951, were charged as suspicious persons by Brecksville police in connection with the bombing of Solicitor Joseph L. Zelazny's ranch home property in that Cleveland suburb.

They were cellmates, police said, at Ohio Penitentiary, where they were released in December, 1950 after serving two years on an attempted burglary charge. The attempted burglary took place in Sandusky, according to police.

Identified By Fingerprints

Identification of the dynamited man was made from fingerprints taken three months ago when Kwinem was arrested and pleaded guilty in Cleveland to a charge of passing a worthless check. The fingertip centers had been dug out in an attempt to eliminate the prints but enough pieces of finger were found to confirm his identification.

Lauerhass was arrested April 27 driving a car belonging to Robert Beringer of 231½ Pearl St. The auto was reported stolen at 9:10 p.m. April 27 from its parking place in front of the Beringer home.

Marion police put out a description of the car on the police radio and Lauerhass was arrested about an hour later by state highway patrolmen from the Baybridge, O., patrol post.

The stolen car was spotted as Lauerhass turned a corner in Baybridge in front of the patrol car.

He was arraigned in Marion Municipal Court the next day, waived a preliminary examination and was bound over to the grand jury. He posted $5,000 surety bond and was released.

The only two witnesses who appeared against Lauerhass before the grand jury were Beringer and Patrolman Chester Hayth of the Baybridge post, who made the arrest.

After Sheriff Stansberry heard the missing-man report from Captain Cornely, he immediately checked with Cleveland police who had Kwinem's fingerprints on file.

Experts from the London Prison Farm were able to get several fingerprint impressions from the hands. These were checked with Kwinem's prints which were sent down from Cleveland and identification was made positively.

The reconstructed appearance of the murder victim by the London Prison Farm crime lab experts was quite accurate. Kwinem was 39 years old, five feet seven inches tall, and weighed 175 pounds.

The crime lab experts, after a study of the few remaining portions of the body, decided he was about five feet six inches tall, or perhaps a little shorter, that he weighed about 200 pounds, and that he possibly wore dentures, because his four remaining teeth were in bad condition.

His wife reported he had no teeth in front but didn't wear dentures.

Tito Defies West, Grabs for Trieste

BELGRADE YUGOSLAVIA (AP)—Premier Marshal Tito's government all but annexed the Yugoslav-occupied zone of Trieste Thursday night with military decrees tightening the Communist nation's hold on the disputed Adriatic territory.

Tito's orders followed his bitter protests that Yugoslav interests had been threatened by a British-American decision last week to give Italy a hand in ruling Trieste's Zone A, which the two western powers have governed since World War II.

Two Hurt In Wyandot Co. Traffic Crash

Marion Man Cited By Patrol After Truck, Auto Collide

One accident resulting in an arrest and five other arrests Thursday were reported by the state highway patrol.

A car driven by Ralph C. McCracken, 68, of Harpster and a truck driven by Edwin N. Ledman, 23, of Veterans' Housing collided at the intersection of two Wyandot County roads, four miles north of Route 294, at 5:30 p.m. Both cars were moderately damaged.

McCracken was bruised on the right ribs and lost several teeth. A passenger in his car, Monte Lumberson, 61, of Harpster, was on the left side. They were released after treatment at Wyandot County Hospital.

Ledman was charged with failing to obey a stop sign, and was cited to appear May 19 before L. C. Schoenberger, justice of the peace in Upper Sandusky.

Harley H. Evans, 44, of Mansfield was arrested at 8:15 a.m. on a charge of speeding on Route 30-N. He pleaded guilty and was fined $20 and costs by Mayor Frank Sitler of Bucyrus.

Hune M. Smith, 69, of Cardington was cited to appear in Marion Municipal Court May 19 following his arrest at 3:25 p.m. on a charge of stop sign violation at the intersection of Routes 98 and 529.

Luther A. Young, 35, of Sycamore posted bond for appearance in Municipal Court May 21 after he was charged at 11 p.m. with speeding on Route 4.

Harold W. Bartlett, 35, of Ashley was charged with speeding on Route 23 at 2:15 a.m. He was cited to appear in Municipal Court Saturday.

Edwin K. Barss, 69, of Damascus, O., was cited to appear in Municipal Court today on a charge of stop sign violation. He was arrested on Route 98 at 2:50 p.m.

Oil Strike

Before that could happen, the 22 unions and 90,000 strikers involved would have to sign hundreds of local bargaining agreements with more than 70 oil companies.

Some tentative agreements, worked out on the basis of a wage stabilization formula, were being reported Thursday night. Others were being awaited today.

Some of the agreements involved 3,400 workers at the Standard Oil of Indiana plant in Sugar Creek, Kan., and 400 workers at Globe Refining Co.'s Lemont, Ill., facility.

Near Settlement

Settlement was reported near at the Continental Oil plant in Denver, where 90 employes have been on strike, and negotiations were scheduled today at Sinclair and Phillips plants in Sugar Creek.

The WSB formula said local contract agreements could provide no more than a 15-cent-an-hour wage increase, except in possibly a few unusual circumstances.

But the unions have already announced they would accept the 15-cent ceiling, and companies employing a total of more than 20,000 workers had already offered that much before the WSB came up with its formula.

Thus, it seemed just a question of time before the several hundred local bargaining groups sign New York contracts and submit them to the WSB for approval under stabilization rules.

McCarthy

and had not been summoned.

Under prodding by Hennings, he said he arrived in Washington late Sunday night and telephoned McCarthy. He got the senator's phone number from the directory, he said.

The Ohioan said he wanted to be filled in on Senate committee procedure and that McCarthy invited him to come see him.

So, Wideman said, he went to the home of one of McCarthy's secretaries — "a young lady" whose name he said he did not remember—and met the senator there about midnight Sunday.

"Sen. McCarthy emphasized," Wideman said, "that all the testimony was under oath and that I must remember that whoever was questioning me, all the testimony was under oath.

"That was his most forceful statement."

He added that McCarthy had admonished him not to get angry on the stand.

"He said you should maintain your composure at all times"" Hennings inquired.

"That was the substance of it," Wideman said.

Tells of Crap Game

Wideman also testified about a 1949 dice game in which he said McCarthy participated. He said that at one time McCarthy ran up a $2,400 "loss" but that this was "just horseplay with the dice with fictitious sums."

McCarthy, commenting on the letter and Wideman's testimony, told a reporter:

"As for the letter, I advised him to tone it down a little and not leave himself open to abuse by the subcommittee members. However, I am glad he wrote the letter."

Wideman said he first met McCarthy in 1947 or 1948 when he (Wideman) was working for a Columbus newspaper (The Citizen) and interviewed the senator regarding housing problems.

Wideman said the subcommittee was under an entirely wrong impression if it had any idea he had helped write the housing article for which McCarthy received $10,000 from Lustron.

Before he left the stand, Wideman said he had no intention of criticizing the committee members, that his criticism was directed at the subcommittee staff.

Wideman said the dice game he described was in McCarthy's room at a Columbus hotel and that it was started only to demonstrate dice-shooting to some persons who had never seen a game.

The incident came up in connection with Benton's testimony to the subcommittee last September. Benton said then that Robert Byers Sr., a real estate man, had testified in bankruptcy proceedings in Columbus "concerning a debt of $5,500 which Sen. McCarthy allegedly ran up in a dice game with his son, Robert Byers Jr.

Claim Debt Not Paid

Benton added that the elder Byers declared McCarthy never paid the debt. McCarthy has denied Byer's statements.

Wideman said there was a game but that it was all in fun.

"Finally," said Wideman, "it got to the figure of $2,400. Time after time Bob Byers won. Finally Sen. McCarthy said they might as well shoot the whole works. At that time, Mr. Byers Jr., lost and the game broke up.

"At no time were there any sums of money present."

Big Increase Due in Price Of Newsprint

Canadians Adding $10 Per Ton; Will Hit U.S. Publishers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall said today the Canadian government has indicated it will approve a $10 per ton increase in the price of newsprint. The boost was requested by Canadian manufacturers.

Arnall said Canadian representatives informed him the increase would go into effect June 15, boosting the price of newsprint from Canada, delivered in New York, to $126 a ton.

He said he has objected to the Canadian government and has urged that the requested increase be denied.

90 Per Cent In U.S.

About 90 per cent of the paper used by American publishers is imported from Canada.

Arnall said an increase would, of course, boost the cost of publishing newspapers and other publications in this country. The increase would be the second by Canadian manufacturers within a year.

Over the protest of Michael V. DiSalle, former Office of Price Stabilization director, the Canadian government authorized a $10 per ton boost for newsprint effective last July 1.

Arnall discussed the newsprint situation at a news conference.

He reported he had a conference here Wednesday with Sydney Pierce, Canadian minister of economic affairs, and Robert M. Fowler, director of the pulp and paper division of the Canadian defense production administration. They outlined to him the plan to boost prices and Arnall said they "signified they intend to approve it."

Arnall said he will confer today with George C. Biggers, publisher of the Atlanta Journal and Atlanta Constitution, who has been talking further with the Canadians in New York. He said Biggers will represent American publishers in talks with the Office of Price Stabilizatoin (OPS).

Reasons Given

The Canadians gave two reasons for the increase, Arnall said: A difference in the exchange rate of the American and Canadian dollars since last July and further cost increases for Canadian manufacturers.

He said that last July the price of newsprint from Canada was $116. That amount of money was equal to $123.40 in Canadian dollars. He said that today $116 in American money will bring only $113.50 in Canadian money.

Arnall said he already has talked with a number of American publishers and with several members of Congress, whom he would not name, about the situation.

"I have promised them that I will fight the increase, but we have no control over Canadian prices," he added.

Rome's Colosseum was first opened in 80 A.D.

Lawmakers Vote Selves Tax Relief

Rider on Budget Bill Allows $2,000 Income Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a complete reversal of previous demands for belt-tightening economy, the House has voted substantial tax relief for itself and senators and free hometown office space for congressmen.

The measure swept through the House Thursday as it passed the last of the annual domestic budget measures, a bill appropriating funds to operate Congress.

On all previous budget bills except one financing local river and harbor and flood control projects, the House had reduced allotments recommended by its appropriations committee. Demands for economy accompanied all the reductions.

The congressional budget bill cleared by voice vote and went to the Senate with the distinction of being the first bill this year on which the House actually raised the allotments recommended by the appropriations committee.

The bill's total of $62,391,780 was $1,500 more than the committee had suggested, although about 10 million below Budget Bureau recommendations. The money finances Congress, the Library of Congress, the Government Printing Office and related arms of the legislative Department.

More Traffic Signs

The $1,500 increase was for installation of more traffic signs and signs on Capitol Hill.

But two other amendments, for tax relief and free office rental, could run the added cost of the bill into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The tax amendment was offered by Democratic leader McCormack of Massachusetts and approved without a show of opposition or discussion. The bill's Democratic and Republican managers announced willingness to accept it and the other members went along.

An examination of the amendment by newsmen disclosed its intent, which McCormack verified.

It says that for purposes of federal taxation, members of Congress have their place of residence in the state or district they represent. This means that their expenses while on official business away from home are deductible as business expenses for tax purposes.

Since Congress normally stays in session almost the entire year, a member could deduct the cost of his housing, meals, transportation, business entertainment, laundry and many other things while in Washington.

$2,000 Deduction

For most members this could mean a tax reduction of around $2,000 annually. Those with higher than average living standards might pay no taxes at all.

The amendment takes effect with the tax year starting Jan. 1, the same time that the present tax exemption on a congressman's annual $2,500 expense allowance ends.

Senators and representatives are paid $12,500 a year, plus a $2,500 expense allowance which now is tax-free. Besides that they receive smaller allotments for stationery, postage, communications and travel.

McCormack told newsmen the amendment merely puts members of Congress "on the same footing with others who come to Washington on business." He said business men are entitled to deduct for tax purposes their expenses while away from home and congressmen should have the same consideration.

U.S. Fighter Ace Shot Down Over Korea

U.S. FIFTH AIR FORCE, KOREA (AP)—The Air Force announced today that Col. Walker M. Mahurin, one of America's greatest fighter pilots, was shot down over Korea Tuesday.

The 33-year-old Sabre jet pilot who downed more than 25 planes in two wars hasn't been heard from since he radioed:

"I've been hit by flak and I think I'm on fire."

The Air Force said it didn't know whether he parachuted.

Mahurin, from Fort Wayne, Ind., was pioneering the use of Sabre jet fighting in dive bombing. That was one of his jobs as a combat group commander of the Fourth Fighter Wing.

He was on his third mission of the day. He led Sabre dive bombing attacks on Communist airfields at Sinuiju across the Yalu River from Manchuria and on the rail network at Kunu, 85 miles to the southeast. He was hit over Kunu.

The association will close its activities with a picnic supper at Rohrbough's near Delaware, Thursday, May 22.

Farmer Hurt In Accident Near Galion

GALION—A Crawford County farmer, Harvey C. Klink of near Chatfield, was seriously injured Thursday night when his car struck a farm tractor driven by Wesley Ritzhaupt of the Bucyrus Galion road, then swung around into the path of an approaching car driven by Donald Albright of Bucyrus.

The accident occurred at 9:45 p.m. on State Route 19, two and one-half miles west of Galion. Ritzhaupt's home is near the scene of the accident.

Both Klink and Ritzhaupt were traveling east, and Crawford County Sheriff Ralph Schreck's office, investigating the accident, reported Klink hit the plows being pulled behind Ritzhaupt's farm tractor.

The plows and the Klink car were demolished and the front end of the Albright car was badly damaged. Neither Ritzhaupt nor Albright were injured.

Klink suffered a possible brain concussion and scalp and facial lacerations. His conditions is reported to be "fair." He was taken to Galion City Hospital in the Snyder ambulance.

MacArthur

these portions of his address most heavily.

The retired liberator of Japan warned, the history of the world shows that republics and democracie have generally lost their liberties by way of passing from civilian to a quasi-military status.

"It would be a tragic development," he continued, "if this generation was forced to look to the rigidity of military dominance and discipline to redeem it from the tragic failure of a civilian administration.

"It might well destroy our historic and wise concept which holds to the supremacy of the civil powers."

MacArthur lashed the national administration, which retired him as supreme Far Eastern commander.

Inconsistent Policy

"Our leaders," he said, "are unable to survey the world as a unit, but have become so infatuated with the one area of Western Europe that they have largely ignored the Communist assault in many other sections of the globe.

"In one section of the world we oppose colonialism," MacArthur said; "in another we support it. In one sector we bristle; in another, we appease. . . . Our European pre-occupation is so great that we almost entirely ignore the enemy in other areas and even allow continental Asia to go by inertia and default. . . . In Korea, where victory was in our grasp, we go from bad to worse."

MacArthur asked what would follow an "uneasy 'cease fire'" in Korea.

"No answer has been forthcoming," he declared, "but the dreadful fear is growing in many patriotic hearths that the decision will finally be 'Scuttle the Pacific,' a yielding to the Iron Curtain of all our traditional friends and alliances and the raw resources of that half of the globe so vital in the balance of world power."

FIVE-DAY FORECAST

Temperatures will average near normal. Normal maximum 68 north to 74 south. Normal minimum 48 north to 50 south. A little warmer Sunday, cool Monday and Tuesday, warmer Wednesday. Showers tonight and Saturday and again late Tuesday and Wednesday, totaling three-fourths to one and a half inches.

ANOTHER BLAST SET

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The next atomic test, delayed by heavy radioactivity from the most recent shot at Yucca Flat, is scheduled tentatively for Saturday morning. Although the blast had been slated for last Monday, the abnormal radioactivity from the May 7 test prevented workmen from getting on the site.

MOST OF THE FARM FRIENDS of the late Lyal Messenger who took part in Thursday's plowing and planting of the summer corn crop on the Messenger farm are shown above. Several of the 26 tractors used in the project are shown in the background. The Messenger farm is located on Route 30-S, four miles east of Marion.

Friends Plant Corn Field For Widow of Lyal Messenger

Neighbors and friends of Lyal Messenger, who died last week, pitched in and planted 26 acres of corn for Mrs. Messenger Thursday.

The work was done because Messenger was always willing to help someone else.

"He was the biggest hearted man that ever lived," one of his neighbors said. "He certainly will be missed around here, and we just couldn't let his corn field go unplanted."

In all, 26 tractors, 16 with plows and 10 with discs, arrived on the Messenger farm at 9:30 a.m. Thursday. In two hours they had finished plowing and discing and the land was ready for seed.

Five hours later, the corn was planted. Grain and fertilizer were purchased by Mrs. Messenger, and those who assisted in the planting provided gas for their own machinery.

Murder

ner had not been arrested, and police suspect he told his wife the story as an excuse for his absence from home, He had failed to return home from his filling station Thursday, his wife said.

Kwinem's wife is Vera, 28. They have a daughter, Susan, 2. She told police in Cleveland that her husband had been associating the past few weeks with several men whom she called "safecrackers."

All three men were wanted by Cleveland police for questioning in connection with various crimes but none of them had ever been arrested for safe cracking.

Believed Killed Thursday

Kwinem was probably killed Thursday by a bullet wound in the head. His body was then taken to a woods on the Elmer Wyss farm in southwestern Wyandot County and then blown up with a dynamite charge. The explosion was heard by neighbors Thursday night at about 9:30 but was thought to have come from a nearby stone quarry and no investigation was made.

The remains of Kwinem's body were discovered by Wyss Monday afternoon when he hauled a load of junk to the woods.

Lauerhass and Horay, on April 27, 1951, were charged as suspicious persons by Brecksville police in connection with the bombing of Solicitor Joseph L. Zelazny's ranch home property in that Cleveland suburb.

They were cellmates, police said, at Ohio Penitentiary, where they were released in December, 1950 after serving two years on an attempted burglary charge. The attempted burglary took place in Sandusky, according to police.

Identified By Fingerprints

Identification of the dynamited man was made from fingerprints taken three months ago when Kwinem was arrested and pleaded guilty in Cleveland to a charge of passing a worthless check. The fingertip centers had been dug out in an attempt to eliminate the prints but enough pieces of finger were found to confirm his identification.

Lauerhass was arrested April 27 driving a car belonging to Robert Beringer of 231½ Pearl St. The auto was reported stolen at 9:10 p.m. April 27 from its parking place in front of the Beringer home.

Marion police put out a description of the car on the police radio and Lauerhass was arrested about an hour later by state highway patrolmen from the Baybridge, O., patrol post.

The stolen car was spotted as Lauerhass turned a corner in Baybridge in front of the patrol car.

He was arraigned in Marion Municipal Court the next day, waived a preliminary examination and was bound over to the grand jury. He posted $5,000 surety bond and was released.

The only two witnesses who appeared against Lauerhass before the grand jury were Beringer and Patrolman Chester Hayth of the Baybridge post, who made the arrest.

After Sheriff Stansberry heard the missing-man report from Captain Cornely, he immediately checked with Cleveland police who had Kwinem's fingerprints on file.

Experts from the London Prison Farm were able to get several fingerprint impressions from the hands. These were checked with Kwinem's prints which were sent down from Cleveland and identification was made positively.

The reconstructed appearance of the murder victim by the London Prison Farm crime lab experts was quite accurate. Kwinem was 39 years old, five feet seven inches tall, and weighed 175 pounds.

The crime lab experts, after a study of the few remaining portions of the body, decided he was about five feet six inches tall, or perhaps a little shorter, that he weighed about 200 pounds, and that he possibly wore dentures, because his four remaining teeth were in bad condition.

His wife reported he had no teeth in front but didn't wear dentures.

Two Hurt In Wyandot Co. Traffic Crash

Marion Man Cited By Patrol After Truck, Auto Collide

One accident resulting in an arrest and five other arrests Thursday were reported by the state highway patrol.

A car driven by Ralph C. McCracken, 68, of Harpster and a truck driven by Edwin N. Ledman, 23, of Veterans' Housing collided at the intersection of two Wyandot County roads, four miles north of Route 294, at 5:30 p.m. Both cars were moderately damaged.

McCracken was bruised on the right ribs and lost several teeth. A passenger in his car, Monte Lumberson, 61, of Harpster, was on the left side. They were released after treatment at Wyandot County Hospital.

Ledman was charged with failing to obey a stop sign, and was cited to appear May 19 before L. C. Schoenberger, justice of the peace in Upper Sandusky.

Harley H. Evans, 44, of Mansfield was arrested at 8:15 a.m. on a charge of speeding on Route 30-N. He pleaded guilty and was fined $20 and costs by Mayor Frank Sitler of Bucyrus.

Hune M. Smith, 69, of Cardington was cited to appear in Marion Municipal Court May 19 following his arrest at 3:25 p.m. on a charge of stop sign violation at the intersection of Routes 98 and 529.

Luther A. Young, 35, of Sycamore posted bond for appearance in Municipal Court May 21 after he was charged at 11 p.m. with speeding on Route 4.

Harold W. Bartlett, 35, of Ashley was charged with speeding on Route 23 at 2:15 a.m. He was cited to appear in Municipal Court Saturday.

Edwin K. Barss, 69, of Damascus, O., was cited to appear in Municipal Court today on a charge of stop sign violation. He was arrested on Route 98 at 2:50 p.m.

Oil Strike

Before that could happen, the 22 unions and 90,000 strikers involved would have to sign hundreds of local bargaining agreements with more than 70 oil companies.

Some tentative agreements, worked out on the basis of a wage stabilization formula, were being reported Thursday night. Others were being awaited today.

Some of the agreements involved 4,400 workers at the Standard Oil of Indiana plant in Sugar Creek, Kan., and 400 workers at Globe Refining Co.'s Lemont, Ill., facility.

Near Settlement

Settlement was reported near at the Continental Oil plant in Denver, where 90 employes have been on strike, and negotiations were scheduled today at Sinclair and Phillips plants in Sugar Creek.

The WSB formula said local contract agreements could provide no more than a 15-cent-an-hour wage increase, except in possibly a few unusual circumstances.

But the unions have already announced they would accept the 15-cent ceiling, and companies employing a total of more than 20,000 workers had already offered that much before the WSB came up with its formula.

Thus, it seemed just a question of time before the several hundred local bargaining groups sign New York contracts and submit them to the WSB for approval under stabilization rules.

and had not been summoned.

Under prodding by Hennings, he said he arrived in Washington late Sunday night and telephoned McCarthy. He got the senator's phone number from the directory, he said.

The Ohioan said he wanted to be filled in on Senate committee procedure and that McCarthy invited him to come see him.

So, Wideman said, he went to the home of one of McCarthy's secretaries — "a young lady" whose name he said he did not remember—and met the senator there about midnight Sunday.

"Sen. McCarthy emphasized," Wideman said, "that all the testimony was under oath and that I must remember that whoever was questioning me, all the testimony was under oath.

"That was his most forceful statement."

He added that McCarthy had admonished him not to get angry on the stand.

"He said you should maintain your composure at all times?" Hennings inquired.

"That was the substance of it," Wideman said.

Tells of Crap Game

Wideman also testified about a 1949 dice game in which he said McCarthy participated. He said that at one time McCarthy ran up a $2,400 "loss" but that this was "just horseplay with the dice with fictitious sums."

McCarthy, commenting on the letter and Wideman's testimony, told a reporter:

"As for the letter, I advised him to tone it down a little and not leave himself open to abuse by the subcommittee members. However, I am glad he wrote the letter."

Wideman said he first met McCarthy in 1947 or 1948 when he (Wideman) was working for a Columbus newspaper (The Citizen) and interviewed the senator regarding housing problems.

Wideman said the subcommittee was under an entirely wrong impression if it had any idea he had helped write the housing article for which McCarthy received $10,000 from Lustron.

Before he left the stand, Wideman said he had no intention of criticizing the committee members, that his criticism was directed at the subcommittee staff.

Wideman said the dice game he described was in McCarthy's room at a Columbus hotel and that it was started only to demonstrate dice-shooting to some persons who had never seen a game.

The incident came up in connection with Benton's testimony to the subcommittee last September. Benton said then that Robert Byers Sr., a real estate man, had testified in bankruptcy proceedings in Columbus "concerning a debt of $5,500 which Sen. McCarthy allegedly ran up in a dice game with his son, Robert Byers Jr.

Claim Debt Not Paid

Benton added that the elder Byers declared McCarthy never paid the debt. McCarthy has denied Byer's statements.

Wideman said there was a game but that it was all in fun.

"Finally," said Wideman, "it got to the figure of $2,400. Time after time Bob Byers won. Finally Sen. McCarthy said they might as well shoot the whole works. At that time, Mr. Byers Jr., lost and the game broke up.

"At no time were there any sums of money present."

Big Increase Due in Price Of Newsprint

Canadians Adding $10 Per Ton; Will Hit U.S. Publishers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall said today the Canadian government has indicated it will approve a $10 per ton increase in the price of newsprint. The boost was requested by Canadian manufacturers.

Arnall said Canadian representatives informed him the increase would go into effect June 15, boosting the price of newsprint from Canada, delivered in New York, to $126 a ton.

He said he has objected to the Canadian government and has urged that the requested increase be denied.

90 Per Cent In U.S.

About 90 per cent of the paper used by American publishers is imported from Canada.

Arnall said an increase would, of course, boost the cost of publishing newspapers and other publications in this country. The increase would be the second by Canadian manufacturers within a year.

Over the protest of Michael V. DiSalle, former Office of Price Stabilization director, the Canadian government authorized a $10 per ton boost for newsprint effective last July 1.

Arnall discussed the newsprint situation at a news conference.

He reported he had a conference here Wednesday with Sydney Pierce, Canadian minister of economic affairs, and Robert M. Fowler, director of the pulp and paper division of the Canadian defense production administration. They outlined to him the plan to boost prices and Arnall said they "signified they intend to approve it."

Arnall said he will confer today with George C. Biggers, publisher of the Atlanta Journal and Atlanta Constitution, who has been talking further with the Canadians in New York. He said Biggers will represent American publishers in talks with the Office of Price Stabilizatoin (OPS).

Reasons Given

The Canadians gave two reasons for the increase, Arnall said; A difference in the exchange rate of the American and Canadian dollars since last July and further cost increases for Canadian manufacturers.

He said that last July the price of newsprint from Canada was $116. That amount of money was equal to $123.40 in Canadian dollars. He said that today $116 in American money will bring only $113.50 in Canadian money.

Arnall said he already has talked with a number of American publishers and with several members of Congress, whom he would not name, about the situation.

"I have promised them that I will fight the increase, but we have no control over Canadian prices," he added.

Rome's Collosseum was first opened in 80 A.D.

Church Guild Holds Banquet

A mother-daughter dinner was held by the Woman's Guild of the First Evangelical and Reformed Church Monday night at the church, with the Child Study Circle of the Guild in charge. About 80 mothers, daughters and guests were present.

Places were set at long tables arranged to form the spokes of a wheel. On the tables, to carry out the color scheme of blue and gold, the Guild colors, were large bouquets of spring flowers and lighted blue candles.

In the center of the table formation was a stand on which was placed a large blue candle surrounded by five small blue candles and fern. These candles were lighted in a special candlelight service which opened the program.

Theme for the candlelight service was "In Every Quiet Home," conducted by Mrs. Lillian Gibbon who lighted the center candle. Assisting her and lighting the other candles were Mrs. Helen Amrine, Mrs. Irene Quigley, Mrs. Nora Gorenflo, Mrs. Ruth Castanien and Mrs. Lois Augenstein.

Mrs. Leona Houser, Guild president, extended a welcome, and the program was in charge of Mrs. Miriam Washburn, Child Study Circle leader.

The guest speaker, Mrs. Charles prugh of Tiffin, Evangelical and Reformed Synod Guild president, spoke to the group on "Christian Mothers and Christian Daughters." She was introduced by Mrs. Augenstein. Concluding the program was a short playlet, "By Still Waters," written by Mrs. Augenstein, with the theme based on the 23rd Psalm. The play ended with the reading of the Psalm and prayer by Mrs. Freda Warner. Others in the play were Miss Sharon Rose Wolf and Mrs. Barbara Meddles.

Patrol Lists 3 Accidents

Three accidents occurred on Marion area highways Wednesday, the state highway patrol reported.

Cars driven by Mrs. Dorthe Titus of 251 Johnson St. and John R. Boger, 17, of Caledonia sideswiped on Route 30-S, three miles west of Caledonia, at 8:30 p.m. Mrs. Titus was driving west and Boger was going east. Both cars were slightly damaged.

A farm truck driven by Michael Goftz, 72, of Bloomville and a car driven by Paul Robertson, 35, of Clyde were moderately damaged when they collided at 9:30 a.m. on Route 19 in Crawford County, two miles south of the Seneca County line. Both were going south and Goftz was attempting a left turn.

Goftz was charged with failing to yield the right of way and was cited to appear Friday before Mayor Frank Sitler of Bucyrus.

Gale M. Mabery, 45, of LaRue was arrested on a charge of following too closely after his truck and trailer hit a telephone pole in an attempt to avoid hitting a dump truck ahead of him. Driver of the dump truck was Walter Burns, 48, of Fulton, O. Both were going west at 7 a.m. and Burns was slowing down for a right turn. Mabery was unable to stop in time and went off the road on the left, striking a pole. His vehicle was moderately damaged.

Mabery was fined $15 and costs when he pleaded guilty before Mayor Don Healea of Cardington. He was cut on the forehead but was not treated immediately.

Lions Hear Smith Clinic Staff Member

Socialized Medicine Is Discussed By Dr. Philip W. Smith

Dr Philip W Smith of the Smith Clinic discussed socialized medicine at a regular weekly meeting of the Lions Club held Monday noon at Hotel Harding.

Dr Smith, chairman of the Ohio Medical Insurance Committee to investigate medical insurance in Ohio and the nation, said socialism is rising up everywhere in the country including medical insurance plans

"Many pressures are being brought about to socialize medicine" he said 'The basis of free enterprise in medicine as in anything else, is the private contract Interference with the citizens' rights to this is a trend toward socialism '

He stated that Washington, D C, is constantly speaking out for various brands of federal health insurance, but a bill on socialized medicine will probably not be brought to vote in Congress in the near future

Dr Smith said medicine in the free enterprise system has progressed further and achieved more than in any country under a plan of socialized medicine

'The United States Public Health Department has promoted various plans in the direction of socialism he continued 'Federal aid to education has influenced the trend toward socialism with grants to universities which have in turn given the government some control in the school '

'The Hill-Burton Act he said is another plan in the direction of socialism It grants one-third of the cost of building a new hospital This is the plan used in building the new Marion General Hospital

Veterans administration because of the fact that a veteran can get free medical treatment and workmen's compensation were listed as plans leaning toward socialized medicine

In conclusion, Dr Smith declared it is important to keep in mind that free enterprise is the right of the individual to make his own private contract in medicine or in any other business

The speaker was introduced by Dr Robert E Logsdon, program chairman Max Sechrist announced the program for next week will be music by the Harding High School A Cappella Choir

Soap Box Derby chairman W T Randle announced that applicants for the derby will be limited to 80 There are now 67 registered

Junior Deputy Governor-elect Robert Scott inducted three new Lions William H Byrd Garret Garretson and Eugene White

Guests were Harold W Rider and Robert Rucker of Marion W I Wesley of Columbus and James Beenes of Franklin

What goes well with a fish dinner?

Almost any vegetable and a salad of your choice, but there is one thing that you may not as yet have tried and that is a bottle of dry white wine, either domestic or imported A real fish fan always has a dry wine with his dinner Why don't you try it some time?

Conservancy District Must Make Refund

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court said Wednesday directors of the Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District were obligated to refund money paid by two counties for flood control work.

In 1934-35 Union County paid $342 and Delaware County $416 as their shares for preliminary work in the Central Ohio Flood control project.

In 1947 directors levied a special property assessment and Delaware County collected $626 and Union County $513.

Directors demanded the full collections from the counties. But the counties contended they owed only the difference between sums collected and those advanced for preliminary work.

The court said directors were obligated to repay counties sums advanced up to the time money became otherwise available.

Junior Red Cross Closes Season

The final meeting of the Junior Red Cross City-Council for the year was held recently at the YMCA with Miss Ruth Burton, president, in charge.

Newly elected officers are: president, Pat Holliday, vice president, Eleanor Williams; secretary, Mary Jo Swambaugh; reporter, Linda Lee Weston.

Letters of thanks received in return for gift boxes mailed to children over-seas were presented. A talk on the origin and services of Red Cross was given by Miss Esther Patz, assistant administrator of the Columbus Regional Blood Center. A brief talk on Red Cross was also given by Mrs. J. H. Harmon and the meeting was closed with the pledge of the Junior Red Cross. Guests were Mrs. Louise Reiper of Columbus and Mrs. Marvin Brown.

Banquet Marks Season's Close For Bowlers

Fifty-eight members were present for a bowling banquet which closed the 1951-52 season of the Monday Night Ladies' League in Hotel Harding Monday night. Officers elected for the next two years are Mrs. Iscah Snyder, president; Mrs. Connie Gibson, vice president; Mrs. Marie Mugers, secretary; Mrs. Evelyn Bailey, treasurer; Mrs. Marguerite Bigley, sergeant at arms; Mrs. Chloe Applegett, flower fund chairman, and Mrs. Angie Jones, reporter.

A trophy was awarded to the Marion Machine Tool Co., sponsor of the team which placed first for the second successive year. Individual trophies were also awarded to the team members, Mrs. Lillie Dalton, captain, Mrs. Pearl Snyder, Mrs. Iscah Snyder, Mrs. Goldie Samples and Mrs. Helen Zeigler.

Teams sponsored by Hammond's Insurance Co. and Bianchi's Confectionary tied for second place. The Hammond team also placed 16th with 2,803 pins in the intercity tournament at Findlay this year, and placed third for high single with 1,001 pins. Members of the team are Mrs. Connie Gibson, Mrs. Sip Price, Mrs. Dot Acker, Mrs. Leanore Redding and Mrs. Angie Jones.

Forty-seven 500 series games and 24 games of 200 or over were bowled during the season. Mrs. Le Kissner won a medal for the highest single game ever rolled in the local leagues. Her score was 278. Mrs. Jane Richards received the high series medal.

Pleasant Student Among Ohio's Best In General Science

A Pleasant Township High School student, Eugene Lorin Arnold, took top honors in the general science subject division in the final district-state scholarship test conducted May 3, it was announced today by Dr. Clyde Hissong, state director of education.

A total of 231 Ohio high school students received top honors from among 14,095 participants in the test.

In the examination on the subject of general science, Arnold received a score of 110 out of a possible score of 125.

The tests were given in 21 subjects tought in grades 9, 10, 11 and 12, and more than 800 high schools were represented. Participants were selected to represent their school on the basis of the results of a preliminary district-state scholarship test given April 1-2.

JUST KEEP SHOOTING. This new camera developed by the U. S. Army Signal corps can take 10 pictures in five seconds and each time a photo is snapped the film advances automatically and cocks the camera for the next shot. It can take 50 pictures two and one-fourth by two and three-fourth inches on each roll, and if fewer are wanted, the film can be snipped with a built-in cutter. Fully loaded and with four-inch lens, weight is only five and one-half pounds.

Juveniles Put On Bowling Green Grange Program

LARUE—Bowling Green Juvenile Grange presented a Mother's Day program for the Subordinate Grange following the last regular May meeting of each group. During the Juvenile meeting, rules were announced for the essay and sewing contests. Members were requested to bring their scrap books in as soon as possible. Following the program, bird houses made by the Juveniles were judged by W. E. Selanders. The one made by Charles Whitman received first award, Jeff Greenwood's, second and Danny Watkins' third.

Eston Williams was in charge of the meeting of the Subordinate group during which plans were made for a bake sale to be held May 17 at Seiler's Grocery in LaRue.

The program opened with a recitation, "Mother's Day" by Penny Greenwood; a skit, "I Like Mine Best" followed with Cheryl Oberdier, Larry Crawford, Jackie Williams, Carol and David Amstutz and Diane Crawford participating. A piano solo, "Promonade in Spring" was played by Rose Ann Murphy. Another skit, "Mother" was given by Donnie Oberdier, Charles Whitman, Earl Murphy, Merrill Williams, Danny Snyder and Jeff Greenwood. After a group of selections played by the juvenile orchestra, a recitation was spoken by Merrill Williams and a piano solo, "Andantino" was played by Johnny Watkins. A recitation, "An Easy Thing To Do" was given by Danny Watkins and a clarinet solo, "The Old Spinning Wheel" was played by Susan Cluff. A vocal solo was sung by Nancy Cluff, a vocal duet by Merrill and Jackie Williams and a recitation "To My Mother" by Myron Cluff concluded the program. During the social hour following, refreshments were served by the committee consisting of Mrs. Lowell McWade, Mrs. M. A. Elsey and Mrs. Ivah Owen.

Firm Plans New Housing Development

A corporation charter has been issued to Harding Development, Inc., of Marion, which plans a housing development in the city.

The incorporators are Allen Fireman and Irving H. Fireman, both of Marion, and Mrs. Sara Fireman of Pittsburgh. The corporation plans the development of a housing subdivision on lots near the Harding Stadium on Walnut St. and Seminole Ave. The construction of three bedroom homes are planned.

The work is to be done by the Allen Construction Co. of Silver St. of which Allen Fireman is the head. In all, 40 lots are available for home construction, George Piacentino, corporation attorney, announced.

Rent Representative Changes Schedule

New times for visits of a representative of the Federal Rent Control Board to Marion have been announced.

Persons with questions and complaints concerning rent control can see a representative of the board at the Mayor's office in City Hall from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. on Monday and from 9 a.m. to noon on Tuesday from now on.

Robert Parrett is the new representative of the board from Columbus.

Harpster Club Honors Mothers

Mrs. John Hite and Mrs. Chester Lust served as program leaders when the Treasure Hunters Club entertained with a Mothers' Party at the Harpster School, Thursday night.

Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Rollie Hite. The program included two piano duets by Mrs. Robert Rea and Mrs. Robert Klatt, a vocal solo by Mrs. Walter Martin, readings by Mrs. Archie Rice and Mrs. Elmer Myers, and a play by Mrs. Harry Brewer, Mrs. Edwin Brewer, Mrs. Robert Klatt, Mrs. Edward McCombs, Mrs. Callie Myers and Mrs. Rollie Hite.

Refreshments were served by the Harpster Boosters Club. It was announced that election of officers will be held at the next meeting, June 12, with Mrs. Floyd VanMeter of N. Main St.

Trucks Enters Hall of Fame With No-Hit Job Over Nats

Tigers Take 1-0 Verdict On Homer By Vic Wertz

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Virgil Trucks' fine no - hitter and the covey of major league shutouts raise some old questions. Are the pitchers that good? Or the hitters that weak?

The correct answer probably is somewhere between the two extremes. Certainly, there is no doubt that Trucks' brilliant no-hit, no-run game for Detroit against Washington Thursday was a superb effort. He walked only one and struck out seven.

But the batters in both leagues did little. They performed like trained seals leaping for a flounder. The combined batting average of both leagues for the day was a sick .167. But for the Philadelphia A's 10 - hit burst against the St. Louis Browns, it would have been much worse.

It was shutout day in the majors, with four of the five games in that category. The Phils' Robin Roberts was the only winner allowing a run. And he gave up only one while throwing a five-hitter.

Trucks, Ray Scarborough of Boston, Alex Kellner of the A's and Billy Loes, Brooklyn's bonus baby, all blanked the enemy.

If Manager Red Rolfe had written the script, the Tigers couldn't have arranged for a more dramatic finish for Trucks' no-hitter. Tangled with Bob Porterfield in a scoreless struggle, Detroit went down to the last out before winning the game 1-0.

Win In Ninth

With two gone in the last of the ninth, Vic Wertz blasted a home run into the upper right field stands. Right Fielder Jackie Jensen didn't even bother to run back. He just trotted off the field.

Porterfield matched Trucks in the early going, pitching no-hit ball for 5 2/3 innings. He gave up only four hits in all.

The no - hitter, second ever pitched by a Tiger hurler, was especially welcome to Trucks as his first win of the season. The 33-year-old righthander had a 0-2 record and had been roughed for 13 hits in 8 1/3 innings in his last previous start against Chicago.

Scarborough, a 32-year-oldster blanked the Chicago White Sox, 1-0, as Rookie Ted Lepcio's pay-off single won for Boston in the fourth. Faye Thorneberry, another survivor of Manager Lou Boudreau's spring youth movement, set up the run when he walked, stole second and went to third on Catcher Phil Masi's wild peg. Lepcio drove him home with one of the three Red Sox hits off loser Ken Holcomb, still a non-winner.

VIRGIL TRUCKS

Lefty Kellner shut out the Browns for the second time in eight days with four hits in Philadelphia's 6-0 victory. Kellner had three of the 10 hits off Tommy Byrne, driving in two runs and scoring a third.

The St. Louis and Chicago defeats enabled the idle New York Yankees to take over fourth place. The Yanks' final game at Cleveland was postponed because of cold weather.

First Start

Loes took full advantage of his first starting chance for Brooklyn to whip Pittsburgh's feeble Pirates, 2-0. The 22-year-old kid, who got a $22,000 bonus for signing in 1948 with Brooklyn out of a high school in neighboring Queens, had won three in a row on relief before Manager Chuck Dressen gave him his big chance.

Brooklyn got to Murray Dickson for their two runs in the first on singles by Pee Wee Reese, Jackie Robinson and Roy Campanella, a walk and Duke Snider's run-scoring fly.

Roberts would have made it unanimous for the shutout pitchers if he hadn't dished up a home run ball to Joe Adcock of Cincinnati in the sixth inning. The 5-1 decision was Roberts' sixth straight for the Phils.

Rain and cold weather knocked out the scheduled Chicago at New York and St. Louis at Boston games.

FRY, TRABERT SEEDED

PARIS (AP)—Titleholder Shirley Fry of Akron, O., was top seeded among 49 entries in the women's singles class of the International Tennis Championships of France to be played at Roland Garros Stadium, May 20 to June 2. Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, O., was seeded at the top of the lower bracket in the men's class.

Reds Drop Third in Row To Phils, 5-1

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — That "perennial hope" label the Cincinnati Reds have stuck on Ewell Blackwell is beginning to wear mighty thin.

The bullwhip of the Reds, the man who pitches as if he's falling out of a tree, the sidearm winder who carved out 16 straight victories five years ago—is now the losing-est pitcher on the Cincinnati roster and the biggest reason the Rhinelanders are fast sinking out of the first division.

Blackie may yet regain his 1947 form, and answer the long-standing prayers of the Cincinnati fans, but it was young Robin Roberts of Philadelphia who showed 'em how in Thursday's game. Robin allowed only five hits to win his sixth straight against one loss. Blackwell has a 1-5 record.

The win was Philadelphia's third in a row and ran the Redleg losing streak to three.

Joe Adcock, the Cincinnati hitter who found himself after overcoming a last season leg injury, was the only rival batsman to get to Roberts with a damaging blow. The Louisianan slammed his sixth homer into the left field bleachers in the sixth inning. He now is hitting at a .329 clip.

Richie Ashburn was the hitting hero for the Phillies with three hits in four times at bat, one run scored and two runs batted in. Richie also stole a base and made five sparkling catches in centerfield.

NEW WORLD LIGHTWEIGHT CHAMPION. Screaming with happiness, Lauro Salas, an over-stuffed featherweight from Mexico, is hoisted to the shoulders of his handlers after he was named winner of the world lightweight championship fight in Los Angeles. Salas, a one-to-four underdog, took the title from defending champion Jimmy Carter of New York in a split decision.

Indians Meet Nats Tonight

Tribe Wheels Take Rap For Bum Weather Guess

CLEVELAND (AP)—How come the Indians-Yankees game you should be reading about today wasn't played?

A short answer would be that the Tribe's management made a bum guess on the weather.

The rubber game in the three game series with the world champs was called at 11 a.m. because the skies were overcast and the field still wet. But by game time three hours later, the temperature was up, the weather was sunny and the field was dry.

The game will be played as part of a doubleheader later in the season—probably July 22 or 23. A few hundred fans who turned out at the park didn't like the idea at all, but the biggest beefs came from the television fans.

Hank Greenberg, Cleveland's general manager, regretted the faulty guess on the weather but said he wanted to do what he "thought best" and give "the out-of-town fans a break by calling the game early."

The cancellation was somewhat surprising for thousands of northeastern Ohioans who have watched Cleveland's diamond heroes play ball in the rain and mud or have waited in the stands for more than an hour while the grounds crew rolled and unrolled the infield tarpaulin.

Attendance Low

Threatening skies certainly would have kept many out-of-town fans away Thursday, and that certainly was a factor in the decision. Although the Indians continue to top major league attendance, the crowds haven't been what a front-running club should attract—especially when engaging the world champion Yankees.

So tonight's game with the Washington Nationals starts the second half of what now is a 12-game Cleveland home stand. The Nats, in second place, end their series here Saturday afternoon. Thus, they have no chance of pushing into first place in play at the Stadium, for they trail by two and a half games.

The three injured Injuns—Centerfielder Larry Doby, Catcher Jim Hegan and First Baseman Luke Easter—all should be ready for tonight's game. Chance of their re-injury on a slippery diamond also influenced Greenberg in calling off Thursday's game, he said.

Early Wynn tries again tonight to be the first Tribe hurler to win five. He's lost two, and hasn't hurled against his former club, the Senators, this season. Washington holds a 2-1 edge on the Tribe—both victories by one-run margins.

Frank Shea (2-2) veteran right-hander the Nats got from New York's Yanks earlier this month, is slated to hurl for the visitors.

Brown Says More Grid Deals Coming

CLEVELAND (AP)—Paul Brown, still smarting from that licking the Los Angeles Rams gave his Cleveland Browns in the pro football championship game, is rebuilding his club.

There have been a number of trades and changes already and "there are more to come," the coach said today. He predicted fully half the 33-man Cleveland squad will be new next season.

"Our team just got fat and sleek from winning," he declared. 'What I want is the player with the flat belly and the old desire to win.

"You stick with a winner until he loses and that's what we did. But after that you make changes," Brown said.

The Browns won championships every year from the time they were founded in 1946 until last season. They won the National League's American Division crown in 1951, but dropped the league championship at Los Angeles, 24 to 17.

Brown who goes after victories with the intensity of a birddog, has been plotting ever since. He says he does not know yet whether he will have a winner the next time, but he is sure the team will be different. And the Browns will be playing for the bunting, all the way.

Gone already are such veterans as Tony Adamle, who plans to study medicine; Alex Agase, to coach with the Dallas Texans; Bob Gaudio, to business; Chubby Grigg, to the Green Bay Packers; Lou Rymkus, to coach at Indiana; and backs Bob Shula and Carl Taseff, into military service.

As things stand now, Brown has three new men on his No. 1 defensive platoon and at least three new faces on offense.

He also has for the first time a top flight substitute passer for Quarterback Otto Graham, in George Ratterman, whom he acquired on a trade from Dallas.

New Faces

New men now on defense are Bob Gain, Bert Rechichar and Walt Michaels. New on the offensive team are John Sandusky; Joe Skibinski, a rookie from Purdue, for Abe Gibron at left guard; and Emerson Cole for Marion Motley at fullback.

Sub Fleet, Blue Man To Run in Preakness

BALTIMORE (AP)—The names of two "big" horses, Sub Fleet and Blue Man, are expected to be dropped into the entry box along with two others this morning, thus completing a lineup of 10 starters for the 76th running of the Preakness Stakes at ancient Pimlico Saturday.

The mile and three sixteenths gallop, carrying $75,000 in added money, drew six entries Thursday when the secretary's office opened the box for Preakness horses.

Sub Fleet ran second behind Hill Gail in the Kentucky Derby two weeks ago. Blue Man was third.

Trainers or aides dropped in the names of Sam E. Wilson's Gushing Oil, Mrs. Walter Jeffords' One Count, Gustave Smith's Handsome Teddy, Jack Amiel's Count Flame, Armageddon, from Harry F. Guggenheimer's Cain Hoy Stable, and Primate, from the Starmount Stable of E. B. Benjamin.

Galion Juniors Win Track Title; Edison Grabs Second

Galion's junior high school track team walked away with the Tri-City League championship Thursday at Harding Stadium in the annual league meet. The Galion juniors garnered 41 points.

Edison Junior High School finished second with 28 points, Vernon was third with 25 and State Street finished last with 14.

Eight new meet records were set but track coaches said that probably was caused by the fact that the thinclads were using regular track shoes for the first time. Prior to this year the boys have competed in basketball shoes.

High point man of the meet was Gary Ballenger of State Street who won the entire State Street total of 14 points. Jim Salter of Edison was second with 11¼ points and Galion's Quay won 11.

The Edison team was defending champions. The meet trophy was presented to the winning Galion team and ribbons were awarded the first three finishers in each event.

Results of the meet follow:

Shotput — 48-2½, Ballenger (S), Quay (G), Armstrong (V); high jump—5-1, Ekin (G), Everly (V), Quay (G); pole vault—new record, 10-0, Sharrock (G), Barr (G), Cobb (E); discus—104-6½, Duncan (V), Mansperger (G), Posnaugh (E); broad jump—19-2½, Ballenger (S), Quay (G), Schweinfurth (E); 120-yard low hurdles—new record, 15.5, Salter (E), Firstenberger (E), Smith and Fox (V); 100-yard dash—new record, 10.3, King (V), Ballenger (S), Albinack (G); 880-yard run—new record, 2:12.5, Johnson (G), Ridnour (G), Thomas (V); 880-relay—1:42.1, Edison, Vernon, Galion; 440-yard dash—55.1, Quay (G), Firstenberger (E), F. Hazen (E); 220-yard dash — 24.4, Salter (E), King (V), Ballenger (S); mile relay—new record, 3:56.9, Galion, Vernon, Edison.

Drake, Shire In 60-Minute Draw

Roy Shire and George Drake wrestled to a 60-minute draw in the main event of Thursday night's wrestling card at the armory. Shire took the first fall and Drake grabbed the second just before the time expired.

George Macricostas and Frank Hurley also went to a draw when the Greek refused to take the match when Hurley was stunned when his head hit the ring post. Prior to that both had a single fall.

Bob Leipler won the 30-minute opener from Tom Steele when Steele fell from the ring and was unable to get back in.

Sports On Television

NEW YORK (AP)—The Preakness Stakes, second only to the Kentucky Derby in horse racing circles, will be televised and broadcast by CBS Saturday. Transmission will be eastern daylight time only.

The race will start at 4 p.m., EST. A radio preview is scheduled for 2:45.

ABC and NBC-TV will handle the middleweight boxing bout tonight between Billy Graham and Rocky Castellani. The broadcast is scheduled for 10 p.m., EST. The telecast will be on eastern daylight time only. The Metropolitan Handicap at Belmont Park in New York will be aired by NBC at 3:15 p.m., EST, Saturday.

Harding Posts Second Win, Whips Willis

Prexies Romp, 5-2, On Two-Hitter; End Season Thursday

Behind the three-hit pitching of Charles "Red" Emmons, the Harding baseball nine defeated Delaware Willis, 5-2, at Lincoln Park Thursday.

The Harding victory, their second in seven games, avenged an earlier 7-3 setback at the hands of Delaware. Emmons went all the way for Harding and allowed only three singles while fanning six.

Harding scored in the first inning on a line-drive double off the outfield wall by Eddie Morse. Morse scampered home on two passed balls. Harding added another in the second when Emmons drove John McKinstry home from second. McKinstry had singled and stolen second.

Delaware put together two hits and two errors to score its only runs of the game in the fourth inning. Harding broke the 2-2 tie in the fifth when McKinstry singled home John Chafin and Jack Niles for two runs after two were out.

An insurance run was added by Harding in the sixth on singles by Joe Thomas and Niles.

Delaware starting hurler Tildon was relieved in the sixth after allowing six hits and four runs. Johnson took over and yielded the final run.

Thursday Harding will travel to Ashland for a night game. It will be the final game of the season for the Prexies. Ashland edged Harding, 7-5, here last week.

Hooper Seeks Third Feature At Speedway

Paul "Dusty" Hooper of Marion will be seeking his third win in three starts Sunday during the weekly stock car races at the Marion Speedway.

Hooper, 1951 track champion, displayed championship form in winning the feature event two weeks ago and then to show it was not fluke came back to take last Sunday's feature race.

Returning to give more competition this week will be "Wild Bill" Kromer, Ted Rambo, Roy Hobson and many others. Another strong competitor will be Louie Louck, whose car flipped over during the Sunday time trials. Louck returned for the 25-lap feature after being treated at City Hospital and gave quite an account for himself in his opening race of the season.

The chilly weather Sunday kept some of the racing fans from the oval. However, expected good weather for this Sunday should bring a near record turnout. Stock car racing will once again feature the suicide and figure-eight races, as well as the 25-lap feature.

Time trials will begin at 12:30, with the first race scheduled to go promptly at 2:30. For early arrivers, picnic facilities have been provided.

Trotting Group Adopts Identification System

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — The U. S. Trotting Association today announced adoption of what it calls a "fool-proof" system of identifying harness horses racing at 158 tracks under its jurisdiction.

The Association has embarked on a program it says will result in the "chestnuts" or "night eyes" of every harness horse in the country being photographed. The "chestnuts" are horny growths located on the inside of each leg and are as effective as fingerprints in providing positive identification, an Association spokesman said. No two growths are ever alike.

The photographic record, will be filed at the Association's national headquarters here and duplicates will be made available to member tracks.

Our Honor Wins Twice at Lebanon

LEBANON, O. (AP)—Our Honor was a double-winner at the Lebanon harness races Thursday night, winning both one-mile races in the identical time of two minutes, 8 2-5 seconds, fastest time clocked at the Raceway this season.

Our Honor paid $6.80, $3.40 and $3.40 in the fifth race and $4.80, $3.40 and $2.60 in the eighth. Both events were Class 18 paces with an $800 divided purse.

The daily double paid $17.80. March Storm paid $12.60, $6 and $5.20 in the first race, a Class 30 pace with a $400 purse, and Dr. Coleman paid $3, $2.80 and $2.20 in the second, a Class 25 trot with a $400 purse.

Graham Favored Over Castellani

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Graham is a 7 to 5 favorite to teach Rocky Castellani a few tricks of the ring tonight in a 10-rounder that marks the return of boxing to Madison Square Garden after a seven-week absence.

The match will get the usual Friday network treatment on radio (ABC) and television (NBC), starting at 9 p.m. (EST).

Longden Wins 4,000th Race, Eyes No. 5,000

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Johnny (Moneybags) Longden has set a new American record of 4,000 winners and today embarked on a riding campaign for his 5,000th victory.

The 42-year-old English-born jockey bagged his 4,000th winner at Hollywood Park Thursday in the third race. He was aboard the public favorite, Fleet Diver.

Longden is the second jockey to ride 4,000 winners. Gordon Richards of England is well ahead with 4,431, but Longden's competition is tougher and he hasn't been riding as long as Richards.

ABC CONTINUES

MILWAUKEE (AP) -- More of the nation's "hot-shot" teams return to the American Bowling Congress Tournament wars tonight after a 48-hour layoff during which booster teams took over Only 18 regular teams shot Thursday night on the final squad and no doubles or singles squads were scheduled.

Convention Plans Made By Democrats

CHICAGO (AP) — Democratic leaders started the ball rolling toward organization of the party's national convention Thursday with selection of the keynote speaker and permanent chairman.

Gov. Paul A Dever of Massachusetts, described as an outstanding orator, was named to deliver the keynote address The speech will be the first round of oratory to start off the convention at which delegates will nominate candidates for president and vice president

Also named by the Democratic convention arrangements committee as permanent chairman for the second consecutive national meeting was Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas, speaker of the House

Frank E. McKinney the party's national committee chairman said Dever and Rayburn "give us a perfect geographical balance"

McKinney said the committee had screened "the entire list of 23 Democratic governors" in considering a keynoter. He added that Dever, 49 and governor of Massachusetts since 1948, "was acceptable to all factions"

Marion Girl To Sing With Choir on Radio

A Marion student, Miss Joyce Wintringham, will appear with a choir group on a nationwide radio network broadcast Sunday morning, the program originating from Chicago. She is a daughter of Mrs. Hazel Wintringham of S. Prospect St. and is a member of the Baptist Missionary Training School Chapel Choir which will be heard on the CBS "Church of the Air" service at 9 o'clock. A freshman at the Baptist school which is located at Chicago, she is a member of Trinity Baptist Church here and is preparing for missionary work. The speaker for the hour will be Dr. Kenneth Scott Latourette, president of the American Baptist Convention, according to a news release from the college.

Bomb-Cleared Acres Put Back To Use

WASHINGTON (UP) — Bomb disposal teams of the Army Engineers have cleared 15,900,000 acres of land used for bombing and gunnery ranges during World War II and returned them to civilian use.

The land had been declared surplus but had to be made safe by removing live shells before it could be used.

The cleared acres are estimated to be worth $700 million. The total cost of the program which began in 1947 is about 20 cents an acre. During the search for unexploded missiles thousands of tons of scrap metal were found and salvaged for industrial use.

LIFE IN OLD BOY YET

KALAMAZOO Mich (UP)—William Ridler, who celebrated his 102nd birthday said he knows he's not getting old. "I still get a kick out of a pretty girl," the retired farmer said. "If I didn't, then I'd know I was getting old."

Michigan State will play five home football games in 1952. The opponents will be Texas A&M, Syracuse, Penn State, Notre Dame and Marquette.
